Relief Bill is Given Approval By Senate, 43-31

Measure Contains Provisions Scored by Hoover

VETO HELD CERTAIN
Snell Sees Clear Road Ahead for New Aid Bill

Washington (AP)—Senate approval today completed congressional action on the $2,000,000,000 unemployment relief bill. It now goes to the White House for an almost certain veto from President Hoover.

As finally approved the bill provided for loans to individuals, the provision which aroused sharp conflict between President Hoover and Speaker Garner.

These loans would be made by the Reconstruction corporation from a fund of $1,800,000,000 created under the bill.

Other provisions would set up a $300,000,000 fund under the reconstruction corporation for loans to states for direct relief of the jobless, and appropriate for a $222,000,000 public construction program.

The vote was 43 to 31.

There is little likelihood, however, that President Hoover will have an opportunity to veto the bill. It has to be signed by Speaker Garner and the house is in recess over the weekend. He must sign it during a session of the house.

Twenty-nine Democrats voted with 14 Republicans to approve the conference report in the senate. Twenty-five Republicans, five Democrats and Shipstead, the lone Farmer-Laborite, opposed adoption of the bill.

The five Democrats opposing the bill were: Bailey, South Carolina; Black, Alabama; Connolly, Texas; Glass, Virginia; and Gore, Oklahoma.

Quick Action Probable
Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, told President Hoover today he believed a new relief bill could be passed by congress within three days. He said there would be no need for holding long hearings on the bill.

The vote by which the senate approved the conference report follows:

Total—43.

Democrats—Bailey, Black, Connolly, Glass and Gore—5.

Farmer-Labor—Shipstead—1. Total—31.

Paired but with their position not announced were:

Fliers Still Uncertain on Their Plans

Mattern and Griffin to Arrive Tomorrow at Moscow, They Declare

BY STANLEY P. RICHARDSON
Moscow, (AP)—James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, American round the world fliers whose adventure failed when they were forced down into a peat bog near Borisov, Russia, Thursday morning, are coming to Moscow tomorrow, they told me over a shaky telephone line from Borisov today.

They said they would decide after reaching Moscow whether they will continue their fight around the world or return to the United States by way of Europe.

It was their first contact with an American since they landed at the remote Russian town at 4 a. m., Thursday, and damaged their plane, the "Century of Progress," in the soft muck of the bog.

"Neither of us was hurt except for a few scratches," they said. "We are coming to Moscow tomorrow by train and are shipping parts of our plane there for repairs."

It was a conversation under extraordinary difficulties. For over 24 hours it had not been possible to get a call through from Moscow to Borisov at all. When the connection was finally established it was impossible for the fliers to hear me, or vice versa.

Speak Through Operators

So the conversation had to be carried on through operators acting as relays and this made it necessary to translate from English into Russian and again into English, both ways, from me to them and from them to me.

"Technical difficulties with the controls of the plane forced us to land," they said. "Then the plane turned over as we came down in the bog."

"We're both all right, but very sorry we failed in our effort to beat the round the world record. We were forced down just after we thought we had completed the most difficult part of the trip and we were making excellent time."

"Even then we would have been all right if the soft ground hadn't caused the ship to turn over. As it is, the plane is not very seriously damaged and we think we can repair it."

"We spent all day yesterday disassembling and packing the motor and we are freighting the damaged parts to Moscow in the hope it can be repaired there so we won't have to abandon the ship."

"This time the connection, wobbly to begin with, broke down entirely."

Reilly Promises To Back Beer Bill

But He Doesn't Think It Will Be Brought Up Again at This Session

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington — Rep. Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac believes that it will be impossible to bring up the beer bill again at this session of Congress, but pledges his influence to bring it up and his vote to help pass a modification bill.

The Fond du Lac congressman, Wisconsin's only Democratic member of Congress, is also for repeal of the 18th amendment, but says, "I will do anything I can to bring up the bill and would vote to modify the Volstead act now to bring 2.75 per cent beer," he said.

"I think that the passage of the beer bill at this time would put more men to work than any piece of legislation that Congress has passed or might pass."

The Democrats have been accused of trying to prevent another beer bill at this session, despite the declaration of the national Democratic platform for repeal and for immediate modification. They are charged with wanting to keep beer as a campaign issue and with not wanting to put congressmen on record again before election, since many dry Democrats would either have to change their previous votes or defy the national platform.

Start Drive Monday on Parking Law Offenders

Starting Monday, Police Chief George T. Prim has announced, a drive will begin to arrest motorists who are exceeding the parking limits on streets in the business section. The chief pointed out that motorists have become lax in their observance of the parking laws and that it is necessary to begin taking them to court when they violate them. Tagging of cars will start Monday and continue for an indefinite period, the chief said. Streets on which tagging is required are plainly marked by signs, the chief pointed out, and there can be no excuse on the part of car owners that they were ignorant of the law.

OUTDOOR LIFE HOLDS APPEAL FOR ROOSEVELT

The outdoor life has held prime appeal for Franklin D. Roosevelt. His Hyde Park, N. Y., mansion, seen upper right, is situated in such a rustic scene as that shown lower left—a setting which is evidence of his interest in forestation. Upper left is the governor's valet, Frederick Ward, with "Major," who may be the next White House dog. Lower right, you see Roosevelt during his early days in public life, when he could ride over his estate.

See G. O. P. Split Aiding Democrats In Badger State

Party Jubilant as Regulars and Progressives Entangle

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Chicago — Wisconsin is one of those Republican states where the Democrats, having polled an unprecedented vote in their presidential primary, think they can win next November.

Furthermore, many of the folks up here take your breath away by suggesting seriously that the Democrats may even elect a senator to succeed John J. Blaine or a governor to succeed Phil LaFollette. That seems to grow out of a general uncertainty, the fact that a presidential victory usually has a tendency to put over a party's state ticket and most of all the increasing bitterness of the row between the LaFollette progressive Republicans and the stalwart conservative Republicans.

Split Foreseen
Ordinarily a Republican nomination here is equivalent to election, but it now seems easy to imagine that if LaFollette is beaten for the nomination by Walter Kohler, the conservative, many of his followers will prefer to vote for the Democratic gubernatorial candidate or not at all.

And if LaFollette wins the primaries many stalwarts may refuse to vote for him in the election. The possibilities are rather similar in the senatorial primary fight between Blaine and John B. Chaplin.

F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac was high man on the Roosevelt delegate slate in the primaries. Delegate state in the primaries, Milwaukee John M. Callahan ran well ahead of the rest of his anti-Roosevelt slate with 110,000.

The combined 240,000 votes compares with a Democratic total of 141,000 presidential primary votes in 1928. The LaFollette anti-Roosevelt slate lost out in the same primary election to the pro-Hoover faction and LaFollette chiefs many of the Democratic primary voters there was a real contest.

Demo Split To 1932
Again the possibility that the Democrats will carry Wisconsin, for president, is being recalled that "Old Bob" LaFollette once lost a race for Congress—back in 1892 apparently—simply because a Democratic candidate was sweeping the state in a presidential election.

But Roosevelt's cars separate battles. When you go to the polls here you get individual sheets on which to mark your choice for president, governor and so on. Theoretically, at least, far tends to discount the effect of any preferential landslide on the state ticket and the progressive leaders point to that fact in discussing the possibility of a Democratic gain.

The Democrats are also all steamed up over the possibility that the prohibition repeal issue will be a great help to them here, and giving form some of their best men this year.

Charles E. Broughman, editor of the Sheboygan Press and an uncompromising foe has been chosen as the new national committeeman. Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, president and crusading organizer of the Women's National Organization for Prohibition Reform in Wisconsin, who was elected of the national committee in 1928, will again be the Democratic national committeewoman.

Fryan Duffy, a popular attorney, a fine orator and prominent in the American Legion, is out for the senatorial nomination. There are several candidates for the nomination for governor, among them

Death Recalls Dispute Over Stevenson Chanty

New York — (AP)—Fifteen men on a dead man's chest—
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!
Drink and the devil have done for the rest
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!
Robert Louis Stevenson wrote those four lines for his immortal "Treasure Island" and then stopped. Some years later Young E. Allison, bibliophile and editor of an insurance journal in Louisville, Ky., completed the chanty and thereby stirred up a spirited controversy over authorship.

The story was recalled today by the death of Allison in Louisville at the age of 78.

The dispute over authorship of the famous verses "of rhythmic devilry" started in the fall of 1914 when a correspondent wrote to a New York newspaper requesting a copy of the poem. Another correspondent sent it in saying he had copied it from the flyleaf of a book dated 1843.

Then the fight was on. Walt Mason, the poet, sprang to the aid of Allison, maintaining that the Louisville insurance man was the author of the full and accepted version of six stanzas. But the newspaper held it "unlikely that Mr. Allison wrote the famous old chanty." Next Champion I. Hitchcock wrote a full book to prove Allison's authorship, and it has not been questioned since.

Allison, using the four lines printed in "Treasure Island," first expanded the verse into three stanzas, calling it "A Piratical Ballad." In this form it was set to music by Henry Waller in 1891. The poetry, however, did not please Allison and he tinkered with it for several years. Finally there emerged the six stanza poem now known as "Derelict." It originally was published in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The first stanza of this final version picks up the four lines from Stevenson and continues:
The mate was fixed by the bos'n's pike,
The bos'n brained by a marlin-spike,
The cookey's throat was marked by fingers ten,
And there they lay,
All good dead men,
Like break-o'-day in a boozing ken—
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum.
Allison wasn't sure whether the quatrain as used by Stevenson was original, but Lloyd Osborne, stepson of the Scottish writer to whom "Treasure Island" was dedicated, settled this point by declaring that "fifteen men was doubly original with Stevenson and it has always been a regret to me that he never saw the Allison extension of the chanty."

Shortly before James Whitcomb Riley died, he clinched Allison's record of authorship by adding this stanza to the poem:
Fifteen men on a dead man's chest—
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!
Young E. Allison done all the rest—
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!
He's sung the song for you and me,
Just as it wuz—or ort to be—
Clean through time to eternity,
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!

Nelson Speaks at Door-co Meeting

Candidate for Congress Urges District to Send 'Regular' Representative

A plea to send a representative to Congress from the Eighth district who could adequately represent the voters because he cooperated with the administration, was made by C. C. Nelson, Appleton, Republican candidate for congress from this district, in an address before the Door County Republican committee at Emphraim last night. About 50 committeemen attended the conference.

Mr. Nelson pointed out that for 10 years the district has been represented by a man whose ability to do things for the voters was nullified because he was not a part of the administration. He pointed out that the district was now losing many of the benefits which are available only through the national administration.

"Only your congressman can gain your proper representation in congress and he must be a part of the administration to do so," Mr. Nelson said. "It is time we get what is rightfully ours from Washington, that we be recognized as a state and not as the laughing stock of the nation."

Pointing out that he was not a self-chosen candidate, but the unanimous choice of the Republican convention which met recently at Green Bay, Mr. Nelson hit at the alleged progressive tactics of "selecting candidates at a secret meeting in some back room."

Mr. Nelson outlined his platform, pledging his assistance to the World War veterans, their widows and children and to the Indians.

RETURNS FROM CAMP
Dr. Allen L. Millard, a lieutenant in the reserve corps, has returned from a 15-day period at Fort Brady, Mich.

Mayor A. G. Schmiedeman, minister to Norway in the Wilson administration.

Democrats explain their optimism partly with the assertion that Al Smith would have carried Wisconsin against Hoover in 1928 had it not been for a heavy Lutheran vote—that sect being extremely numerous in the state—which they interpret as having been anti-Catholic.

And the Democratic party, after what it went through in 1924 and 1928, certainly deserves a nice long rest from the religious issue.

Neighbors Proud Of Roosevelt's Chicago Victory

Village of 2,000 Excited at Being Home of Presidential Candidate

BY DEXTER TEED
Hyde Park, N. Y.—The people in this old Hudson river village of 2,000 population are all excited, for a man who has lived among them most of his life is running for president of the United States.

He is "Friendly Franklin Roosevelt," a neighbor whom they have known intimately for 50 years. They know him in his informal moments and are better prepared to give an estimate of him than the people who have come in contact with him only in his long political career.

Neighborly Neighbor

He is "Uncle Jim" Roosevelt's boy grown up, a democratic, likeable man who, according to Gus Hoyer, the barber, "knows every man, woman and child in town by name." Although in this strongly Republican section many may disagree with him politically, they are unanimous in insisting that "Franklin has always been a good, neighborly man, square and honest with his home people."

One of Roosevelt's special friends, Ben Haviland, a descendant of the Dutchman who settled in the valley that Hendrick Hudson discovered, tells about Roosevelt when he is not a great political figure but simply one of the people hereabouts.

"Yes," says Haviland, a farmer, living on East Park way, "Franklin's been coming to my place for years. About every time he goes by, he stops and comes in for a visit. We talk about farming and other things, but not much politics. He knows as much about farming as any man in the country, too. He can talk about cows and the price of milk with any of us."

Haviland now past 60, relates the story of the young Franklin who, raised in the aristocratic tradition of the Roosevelt family, would be expected to ride a horse in the bridal path reserved for the socially prominent in the section.

But once on his horse, he would ride out to get acquainted with the farmers, talk with workmen and learn about the country. Those contacts evidently influenced his later life.

Old Settlers

The Roosevelt family has lived at Hyde Park nearly as long as the village has been there. The Democratic nominee's great-grandfather, Isaac Roosevelt, settled there more than 100 years ago. His father, James Roosevelt, is remembered as a typical country squire of the old school. Always he wore a beaver hat and when he would meet anybody he knew, he would graciously tip the beaver—even if the person met was a farmer, laborer or servant.

Interesting in view of his acceptance speech on reforestation is Roosevelt's main hobby. On land he owns east of the estate, is a tree nursery where he raises little pine trees to be replanted. When he is at home he spends most of his spare time there, observing and giving suggestions to men at work and often assisting himself. He is proud of his success in developing the "tree farm."

Roosevelt has a farm, also, which he bought some years ago. On it are a dairy, hens and the usual farm crops. Moe Smith, known as a "character" in the section, is in charge. Incidentally, on the night Roosevelt was nominated Moe became so excited he forgot to do the farm work for the next two days. Celebrators who organized a parade the night Roosevelt was selected went to the farm and were greeted by Moe with joyful yells.

Ed Foster, Republican supervisor who probably won't even vote for Roosevelt, although he admits all he has against him is that he is a Democrat, is, however, a personal friend.

Come On In!
Once, wishing to see Roosevelt, he went to the estate one Sunday morning. The governor, having been up late, was still in bed. Frederick Ward, Roosevelt's valet, met him and asked him if he had a card.

"Of course I told him I didn't have a card," says Foster, "but I said to him to tell Franklin that Ed Foster wanted to see him. A minute later I was admitted to Franklin's bedroom and we talked while he was still in bed. He's always friendly like that."

When at home Roosevelt, despite being crippled by infantile paralysis, often comes to the village to chat with the people. They all know him and he knows them.

Freeman Vandewater, local butcher, who was once supervisor, is another opponent to Roosevelt. Unluckily he admits that "Roosevelt always played square with me."

Roosevelt and his family are part of the 120-year-old St. James Episcopal church where they are all members. The governor is senior warden. Adjacent the church in the rear is the cemetery where Roosevelt's are buried and where Franklin, too, may be buried some day.

Although the normal Republican majority of 600 may prevent Roosevelt from carrying his own neighborhood, he is a popular man, one who grew up among the people. The first time he ran for governor he was defeated at home, but in 1890 he had a small majority.

That doesn't matter, especially. In Hyde Park he is regarded as a fine gentleman who bravely overcame the handicap of a crippling illness to be nominated for, and possibly elected to, the highest office in the United States. They are proud of him.

State Department Scored by Leaders Of New Milk Pool

Walter E. Singler Criticizes Hill for "His Changing Views"

BY W. F. WINSEY
Considerable sharp tongue lashing featured the discussion of the state department of markets at the mass meeting of local dairymen in the courthouse here Friday night over the assistance that farmers are getting or failing to get in the organization of cooperating marketing institutions. The meeting was called by the local organization of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool and all farmers and their wives in the vicinity were invited. The charge of inactivity was made by the promoters of the milk pool and the defense offered by a representative of the state.

At the present and past gait, it will take the department of markets 60 years to organize the farmers of Wisconsin into effective milk marketing institutions, one of the speakers predicted.

"You should take your complaints to the governor and not spread them abroad among farmers at meetings," advised the state representative.

A promoter of the milk pool declared that certain members of the department of markets are too friendly with milk trusts to urge price-fixing on dairy products by farm cooperatives and so go no farther than to advise the weighing and testing of milk by farmers.

Criticizes Hill
President Walter E. Singler criticized Commissioner Chas. L. Hill for favoring the milk pool in a talk at the recent picnic in Pierce's park, and later declaring the milk pool an impossibility, according to a newspaper report of Hill's talks which he read and compared at the Friday night meeting.

"I am disgusted with the pusillifooting of the state department of markets in the promotion of cooperative marketing in Wisconsin," said Otto Rohm. "Following the lead of the department of markets we farmers have been cooperating, cooperating, and cooperating for years and we have not got anywhere with our cooperating."

"With all of our commodity marketing cooperations working under the direction of the department of markets we are in a worse plight than ever before and are losing our farms. These commodity marketing cooperatives will never save our farms nor ourselves. What will save us is the cost of milk production plus a reasonable profit as proposed by the milk pool."

"To get the prices we must have for our milk to survive, I am willing to dump my milk for 30 days more. They say you must not dump your milk for if you do you will starve your children. But under the present prices farmers will soon starve their own children."

"To help them out of their financial difficulties Mr. Rohm advised all farmers to become members of the pool at once."

Describes League Plan
Mr. Singler outlined the plan of the New Dairyman's League, gave the history of the league, and read and discussed sections of its membership contract, and said that the plan of the milk pool would be identical. According to the last report of the league the highest price paid members for milk was $9.10 and the lowest $1.10. The variation in prices depended upon the hauling distance and on the grade of the milk. Some of the milk was hauled 300 miles. He advised all farmers in Wisconsin to join the milk pool.

Mr. E. O. Mueller started the organization of a women's auxiliary of Appleton milk pool and expects to commence the work at a meeting of the Appleton local at the auditorium of the Appleton State Bank Tuesday evening. All members of the local are invited to be present with their wives and to bring in neighboring dairymen and their wives.

Edward O. Mueller presided at the court house mass meeting and was one of the principal speakers. His advice to all dairymen who are dissatisfied with present milk con-

Third Party is Discussed by Political Body

League for Independent Political Action in Session at Cleveland

Cleveland — (AP)—With a platform designed to cure the country's economic defects, delegates of the League for Independent Political Action assembled here today.

Formation of a formidable "third party" in national politics as a means of accomplishing the league's objectives was one of the prime topics of the convention discussion. Leaders said the group probably would endorse Norman E. Thomas, the Socialist candidate for president, but would stand on its own platform.

Economic and social problems were the chief subjects dealt with in the program, prohibition being given only small attention—a recommendation that constitutional convention be called to consider the troublesome question.

Prominent among the delegates and speakers were Dr. John Dewey of New York, father of the league; Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation; and Congressman John Kvale, Farmer-Laborite of Minnesota.

The league's platform calls for:
1. The six-hour working day for federal employes without reduction of wages.
2. An increase in progressive rates of income and inheritance taxes so that all incomes over $20,000 and estates over $100,000,000 will be taxed 75 per cent in the top bracket.
3. An immediate 25 per cent reduction in the Hawley-Smoot tariff rates, and an international conference to accomplish reductions in world tariffs, reciprocity agreements and eventual free trade.
4. Public control of coal, oil, railroads and similar public utilities.
5. Transformation of the federal department of labor "from a bureau of propaganda and deportation into a public agency servicing the interests of labor."
6. Free labor exchanges.
7. Unemployment insurance and old age pensions.
8. Abolition of child labor.
9. Federal appropriations of not less than $250,000,000 a year for direct relief, and of three to five billion dollars for "useful public works."
10. Complete revision of the country's banking system.

Numerous reforms concerning civil liberties, disarmament, and many other subjects also are dealt with in the program.

Nurse's Suit May Reach Jury Today

Verdict Expected Before Nightfall in St. Pierre-Hutton Case

Los Angeles — (AP)—Myrtle Joan St. Pierre, attractive nursing nurse, may know before the day is over the jury's verdict in her $200,000 suit against David Hutton, choir singer, for his alleged jilting of her to marry Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson. Only the instructions to the jury by Superior Judge Lester W. Roth remained before the jury began its deliberations.

The special Saturday session of court found both principals in the case, the courtroom and defense counsel under special guard.

Willedd Andrews, attorney for Hutton, reported to police he had received threats of death over the telephone.

"You have talked too much," Andrews said a voice over the telephone told him. "We have just killed Roy Watkins. We got him and you are next with Mark Jones and the other fellow."

Police were inclined to believe the threat was the work of a fanatic, although they were unable to get in touch with Watkins, a private investigator of Angelus temple, of which Mrs. Hutton is pastor. He was reported at his home to be out of town. The "Mark Jones and the other fellow" referred to are other defense attorneys.

Previous to Andrews being placed on the list of those guarded, threatening notes were reported received by Hutton, Miss St. Pierre and the judge.

Arguments were completed yesterday. In them, Hutton heard himself described as "a parasite" on Aimee's temple and the nurse listened to his attorneys brand her as an "unchaste woman."

Operating Costs At Normal School Totaled $19,483

Receipts for Last Year Were $23,612, According to Annual Report

Operation costs of the Outagamie Rural Normal school at Kaukauna for the fiscal year ending June 30 were $19,483.03 compared with receipts of $23,612.12, according to a report prepared with the trustees. A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, secretary of the board, will submit the report to Madison this week.

The report shows the following receipts: state aid, $12,222.22; county appropriation, $3,300; tuition, $933; book rental, $331; materials sold, $136.20; other revenues, $771.84; balance from 1931, $3,687.66. The expenditures include maintenance of the building; cost of the summer school session; teachers' salaries, etc. The balance left in the treasury at the end of the year was $4,129.04.

There was an enrollment of 93 in the school this year, the report shows, of which 61 were girls and 12 were boys. The school graduated 88 pupils, 77 girls and 11 boys. Forty-seven of the graduates were given teaching positions, five men and 42 girls. Forty-seven of the students were from outside the county and therefore were entered on tuition. Graduates, whose homes are in other counties, are sent back to those counties to teach. The enrollment at the Outagamie school places this school among the largest in the state.

Little Chance For Real Beer This Session

Party Platforms Won't
Keep Members From Voting as They Please

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—With all the hullabaloo about party platforms on prohibition, members of congress are going to do as they please in voting on proposals to change the 18th amendment or modify the Volstead act.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, Democrat, has announced that he isn't going to be stampeded by any "treasoned political assembly" to violate his obligation to the commonwealth of Virginia. Senator Bingham of Connecticut, Republican, notwithstanding the Republican party platform which declares against nullification of the constitution is sponsoring a beer bill which may of his colleagues regard as an attempt to circumvent the constitution.

The Republican prohibition plank, however, gave Republicans freedom to differ with the party in voting their convictions. The Democratic plank allowed no such leeway. The Republican plank made no mention of modifying the Volstead act, yet several Republican senators are trying to force a vote on a beer bill with the deliberate purpose of embarrassing Democratic senators and proving to the country that the platform plank adopted at Chicago last week was merely to catch votes and was not binding in practice on the Democratic members of congress.

No Beer This Term
Already the lines of cleavage have become apparent in the debate. Southern Democrats are not going to be as wet as their platform and a beer bill that permits anything really intoxicating will never be made into law at this session of congress.

There is, of course, much argument as to what alcoholic content would or would not violate the definition of "intoxicating" under the eighteenth amendment, but the Democratic platform gets around that difficulty by recommending such alcoholic content "is permissible under the constitution." This leaves it to any member of congress to decide for himself what he thinks is constitutional. Therefore he can declare that he is in true accord with the Democratic platform because it commits him only to the passage of legislation "permissible under the constitution."

The congressional beer debate is going to play a vital part in the campaign. The Republicans are trying to make the record so clear that they will be able to attack the Democratic platform as hypocritical, just as the Democrats have been lambasting the Republican prohibition plank as a straddle.

Parties Are Worried
The prohibition issue has both parties worried. Some of the southern members of congress are not at all happy about the charges made at the prohibition convention in Indianapolis to the effect that the Democrats embraced this year a wetter candidate than the one some of the southern states deserted in 1928 thereby eliminating the wet alibi of that campaign and revealing religious bigotry as the real cause for the desertions.

To put it another way, many of the southern leaders are not ready to go the whole distance on repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of the Volstead act and will incline more and more to the support of a proposal which, while repealing the eighteenth amendment will have embodied in the same proposal some constructive substitute.

The chances of an outright repeal amendment getting two-thirds vote in both houses of congress are conceded at this moment by all sides to be remote. Thirteen states could block ratification of an outright repeal amendment if submitted. This is causing Republican wets to insist that whether the Republican prohibition plank is accepted or not some substitute for the eighteenth amendment will have to be proposed for a vote coincident with repeal if any real progress is to be made toward a change in the constitution with respect to prohibition.

It was not believed that this situation would become apparent so soon, for if congress had adjourned last week these trends would not have become apparent until the December session, whereas the campaign would have been fought without any evidence as to the attitude of the Democratic members of congress from the south. It looks now as if the Republicans are in no hurry to adjourn.

journal congress because with the Democrats in full control of the house of representatives and in a position to carry out platform pledges at once, the Republican leaders think it is good campaign strategy for them to force the issues and get record votes before an adjournment is taken.

Europe Waits For American Stand on Debts

London Press Hails Lausanne Settlement as Great Achievement

London, (AP)—The London press today welcomed the reparations settlement at Lausanne as a "great achievement," a "happy omen" and "the world's best news since the war," but added that it was only the first step toward a settlement of the world's economic troubles.

Eyes should now be turned across the Atlantic, the papers said, to see what the United States would do on the question of revising the war debts.

Comparing Europe to a patient from whose system poison had been extracted, the Times said the patient was still weak and restoratives and other remedies were needed. These, it added, could not be supplied by Europe alone.

The Morning Post, referring to Washington's expression of an intention to consider suggestions on the debts, remarked that the British attitude is that all inter-governmental payments are obstacles to the world's recovery.

"Our task," the Post added, "is to persuade America, in her own and the common interest, to accept this thesis. If she does not accept it any moral or lateral benefit from Lausanne will be lost utterly."

Up to America

"Great Britain has suspended the payments due her," the Telegraph said, "believing the United States will see the necessity of revising the entries in her own ledgers."

"The powers at Lausanne have done wisely in placing their faith in the magnanimity, no less than the political and financial acumen, of American statesmanship to perform one of the remaining achievements allotted to it in the Lausanne declaration."

"If the world's course is to be set fair for prosperity," said the Daily Mail, "relief from the United States is required."

"It depends upon America," the Express said, "to lift the Lausanne settlement from a scrap of paper into reality."

The Herald said: "Lausanne is the beginning, but there is much to do—the very difficult question of war debts remains."

Several of the papers said they thought Germany escaped very cheaply and also emphasized that ratification of the agreement was yet to come. This, they said they believed, depends on the American attitude.

"The French chamber won't sanction the settlement," said the Express, "until it is assured America will give them clearance on their own debts."

The Herald also said it saw snags to ratification, depending on the United States' attitude on the debt question.

RAIL WRECK KILLS FOUR

Four men were crushed to death in the spectacular wreck of an Atchafalaya, Toppa and Santa Fe freight train near Castle Rock, Col. The locomotive and four cars leaped the gap and ploughed over the right of way on the other side for 150 feet. Nine cars were splintered into matchwood in the space one car would fill, causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Send Work of Class In Appleton School To French Students

A portfolio, describing their class work and conditions in the city of Appleton, prepared by the students of the social science class at Roosevelt Junior high school last year, has been forwarded to Ecole Communale de Jeunes Filles, a school in Paris, France, according to word received today by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

The portfolio, prepared by the class during the last school year, was submitted to the Junior Red Cross through Mr. Meating, chairman of the Outagamie County Chapter of the Junior organization. The French school, in turn, will prepare a portfolio to be submitted to the Roosevelt school next year, according to Mr. Meating.

This class at the Roosevelt school was the only one in the county to prepare a folio to be submitted to a school abroad, Mr. Meating said. A. G. Osterhaus, principal of Roosevelt school, is being informed of the matter by Mr. Meating.

Directors Oppose Two State Bills

Endorse Action of State Chamber of Commerce At Oshkosh Meeting

Voicing unanimous approval of the stand taken at a recent district meeting of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce at Oshkosh, the board of directors of the Appleton chamber at a meeting at Hotel Northern Friday adopted a resolution opposing the adoption of joint resolutions 105 and 115.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, it is proposed to amend our state constitution to permit the state or its subdivisions of the state to issue bonds and go into debt for the purpose of putting the state or subdivisions of the state further into the field of private business as is proposed by joint resolution 105 and 115, and

"Whereas, Wisconsin municipal bonds even at this time are selling at par and enjoy a low rate of interest;

"Whereas, the present excellent standing of Wisconsin municipal securities may be endangered, if the constitution is amended as proposed; now,

"Therefore be it resolved that the Appleton Chamber of Commerce go on record as being opposed to the adoption of joint resolutions 105 and 115."

It was decided to invite F. H. Clausen, Harrison, to Appleton some time next fall to address a meeting of the chamber on Unemployment Reserves. Mr. Clausen spoke on that subject at the recent district meeting at Oshkosh. A report on the Oshkosh meeting was given by George Wetengel, chamber president.

A comparison of the budget for the first quarter ending June 30 revealed that chamber expenditures have not exceeded the budget.

and was supported by her father, a Cincinnati attorney. After she returned home she broke down again. During the inquest, she lay with her eyes closed, the formal statement said.

The testimony of three other witnesses was not disclosed. They were Walker, Dr. Fred McHanes, who attended Reynolds, and Blanche Yurka, New York actress who was a guest of Miss Holman at the time of the shooting.

She was expected to relate details of a gay party which broke up only a few minutes before the shooting. The party, it was understood, was in honor of the 21st birthday of C. H. Hill of Winston-Salem. Walker, Miss Yurka and C. Raymond Kraner of Flushing, L. I., were among the guests who had not left the house before the shooting. They, along with the other guests, are under subpoena, and officials said efforts were being made to prevent any inter-communication.

The coroner's jury is to resume its hearing at 9 p. m. tonight. No explanation was given for the hour, but it was understood officials wanted time to piece together information newly obtained.

Coroner Dalton, immediately after the death, called it a suicide, but Sheriff Franson Scott, failing to find a motive, refused to drop the investigation.

The only possible suicide motive advanced so far has been the rumor, according to the coroner, that Reynolds and his wife had a marital rift a few days ago when Reynolds learned she was of Jewish extraction.

See Prohibition As Clear Issue Between Parties

Tremendous Wet Swing Makes Future of Law Problematical

Chicago. — The wet trend in politics has accelerated so rapidly that speculation on the future of prohibition becomes a mere hazardous guess.

That seems the safest way to figure the significance of the adoption by the Democratic convention of an amazingly wet plank by an amazingly huge majority.

Now prohibition is drawn as a political issue between the two parties with breath-taking clarity. No plank could have been more emphatically, more unequivocally wet than the Democratic demand for repeal of the 18th amendment as soon as possible and for beer and light wines at once. Passed nine to two by this convention, it is a plank on which no candidate can hedge and a plank which stands in stark contrast to the Republican attempt to please both wets and dries.

The size of that majority was a direct result of what seemed to have been about the only intelligent stroke of the Roosevelt forces at the convention up to that time. By definitely assuring the convention that his delegates were entirely free to vote as they pleased on the prohibition plank the New York governor spoiled an almost perfect record of bonehead maneuvers perpetrated in the few days previous by himself and his assortment of captains in the scene.

Roosevelt had been generally expected to insist on some sort of a liberal straddle. There had been plenty of argument as to how dry or wet he was. Repeal seemed the chief controversial political issue between Roosevelt and Al Smith and the eastern leaders who sought to defeat him. Had Roosevelt demanded a mild majority plank from the platform committee he unquestionably would have been beaten on the floor and would have run the risk of losing his organization here. He would have strengthened, in some quarters at least, the argument that he is weak and a pussyfoot.

It is quite true that the convention voted its desire without any ringing declaration from Albany. The startlingly act-startling certainly to those who have watched the Rooseveltites miff the ball so often recently—is that the governor had a marvelous chance to make one more boner and yet did nothing of the sort.

Scores of politicians must have felt like better men and women as they drank their highballs in hotel rooms later in the early hours of the morning. The delegates doubtless outstripped the candidates for Congress, but the fact that a convention has come to vote as it thinks and drinks, seems a tremendous step when you consider the soft-pedaling law enforcement planks which have heretofore been the rule.

The wet tide now sweeps toward the congressional and presidential elections. It may not produce a November inundation, but the progress of its swell thus far in 1932 discourages prophecy.

To date the astonishing sequence of events, following the defection of many nationally known figures from the dry cause, has gone like this:

The Republicans, set to write a rather vague plan, which was still much wetter than anyone had anticipated a few months previously, found themselves confronted with a repeal revolt in the demand that they declare for resubmission of the 18th amendment for a popular choice between retention and repeal.

The die-hard "drys" among the Democrats actually pleaded that the convention adopt exactly the same repeal-or-repeal proposal for which the wets had fought so vigorously and mainly earlier in the month at the G. O. P. meeting at Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina and Oklahoma actually begged that the party be no wetter than the wettest Republicans.

BAKER AT OPERA AS DEMOCRATS DECIDE DESTINY

While his rivals were receiving sporadic cheers from sweltering delegates crammed in the Chicago convention stadium, Newton D. Baker, powerful "dark horse" candidate for the Democratic nomination, was cool and comfortable in Cleveland's new civic stadium, on the opening night of the outdoor opera season. And while Al Smith was receiving an ovation on his appeal for a wet plank, Baker at almost the same hour, was receiving a rising ovation from the fashionably-dressed throng of opera-goers. Here is Baker with his daughter, Peggy, and Mrs. Baker, in their box while Mary Garden sang Carmen.

U.S. Opposed to Cancellation of War Obligations

State Department Sees Need for Temporary Downward Revision

was more than 400 years old. It was originally used on the Treaty of Fraternity in 1525 between Freiburg and Bern, on the one hand, and Lausanne on the other.

Germany Elated

In the meantime Chancellor von Papen was being congratulated with telegrams. "Bravo!" said one signed by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Reichsbank and one of the most prominent German exponents of cancellation of the post-war obligations.

Several of them came from war veterans who hailed "the end of reparations."

The halls of the Beau Rivage hotel echoed with sighs of relief and exclamations of satisfaction. The greatest financial problem in the history of the world solved, the hope was for peace and economic reconstruction of the world.

On all sides tribute was paid to the tenacity of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, who clung to the frayed threads of hope throughout the weeks of discussion and forced a fresh start every time the efforts to bring Germany and France together failed. In some quarters it was described as the greatest triumph of the British premier's career.

Efforts For Peace

The agreement, which was reached by the six principal powers following the break of Franco-German deadlock yesterday contains a preamble detailing the conference's efforts for peace and five resolutions outlining the terms of the settlement.

"The powers that have signed this treaty," the preamble said, "do not claim that the accomplishments at Lausanne, which will completely put an end to reparations, can by itself assure that era of peace which all nations desire.

"But they do hope for an assurance that all these aims of such deep significance will be understood and appreciated by all pacific elements in Europe and in the world. They do hope that these accomplishments, so ardently attained, will be followed by fresh achievements."

The five resolutions were, briefly: (1) An agreement regarding reparations between Germany and the former allies; (2) conditional measures extending a moratorium on inter-governmental debts; (3) an agreement to assist Austria and the Danubian states which are in financial difficulties; (4) creation of a committee to study the grain problem in the Danubian states which are embarrassed by a huge grain surplus; and (5) creation of the machinery for a world economic conference under the auspices of the league of nations.

There was nothing about a "gentlemen's agreement" linking reparations with war debts nor was there any reference to the "war guilt" clause of the Versailles treaty.

Statement From U. S.

Shortly after the agreement was announced last night a statement came from Washington saying the United States was now ready to consider any proposals its European debtors might care to make for the reconsideration of war debts settlements.

The announcement created a profound impression on the European delegates and was greeted with expressions of joy. Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister hailed it as the "best news since the opening of the conference."

Louis Germain-Martin of the French delegation, said: "We are naturally happy to hear that it breaks out the policy France has followed."

The agreement with Germany, containing the kernel of the settlement, provided that the German government shall turn over to the World Bank for International Settlements 3,000,000,000 marks worth approximately $712,500,000 of redeemable 5 per cent bonds, their value based on "gold of the present standard of weight and fineness."

It was prefaced with a declaration of "the firm intention of helping to create a new order permitting the establishment and development of confidence between the nations in the mutual spirit of reconciliation, collaboration and justice."

An annex dealing with non-German reparations, declares for a committee consisting of one representative of each of the governments concerned to consider these questions.

A committee also was authorized to submit to the European union at its next session measures required for the restoration of the countries of central and eastern Europe."

Trade Conference

An invitation was extended to Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, the United Kingdom, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland, Rumania, Switzerland and Yugoslavia to appoint two representatives on the previously appointed committee for the purpose of discussing trade, especially "the low price of cereals."

Regarding the proposed world economic and financial conference it was agreed:

"The main questions which demand examination are: (A) financial questions—monetary and credit policy, exchange difficulties, the level of prices, the movement of capital; (B) the economic question—improved conditions of production and interchange with particular reference to tariff policy, prohibition and restriction of importation and exportation, quotas and other barriers of trade."

"The conference," emphasizes in particular the necessity of restoring the currencies on a healthy basis and of thereby making it possible to abolish measures of exchange control and to remove transfer difficulties. Further the conference is impressed with the vital need of facilitating the revival of international trade."

To achieve the above purposes the conference decided to invite the league of nations to convolve a conference on monetary and economic questions for which Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, and the United Kingdom would appoint two experts, one qualified to deal with economic questions, the other qualified to deal with financial questions.

"The conference further resolves," the agreement said, "to invite the United States of America to be represented on the committee on the same basis as the governments of the states mentioned above."

The council of the league of nations was asked to nominate three persons qualified by their financial competence, and three persons qualified by their economic competence.

Fraser Arraigned on Prohibition Charge

George Fraser, Jr., Appleton, waived preliminary hearing when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner John F. Watermolen at Green Bay this morning on charges of sale and possession of intoxicating liquor, and was bound over to the December term of western district federal court at Madison. He furnished $500 bond.

Fraser was arrested here yesterday by Appleton police for a U. S. deputy marshal from the eastern district court in Milwaukee on complaint of the western district court. Fraser was arrested in August, 1931, at the Rock Inn, town of Carson, Portage-co. by federal prohibition agent. He was operating the place. He left that county and returned to Appleton, information filed in the western district court revealed. Copies of the information were sent to the eastern district court and E. J. Koelzer, U. S. attorney at Milwaukee, issued the warrant for Fraser's arrest.

Piccard's Wife To Let Him Fly In Stratosphere

Famous Scientist Perfects New Gondola for Second Attempt

BY EDOUARD TRAU

Brussels. —(P)—Behind Professor Auguste Piccard's plans for a second ascent into the stratosphere early in July lies a story of a husband's word to his wife not to risk his life again, and of her release from his promise when she realized how badly he wished to try again.

Hardly had Professor Piccard landed his balloon on the slopes of Gurgl glacier, in the Tyrolean Alps, last year, and obtained a telephone connection with his wife in Brussels, before she requested a promise "not to try again."

Thankful for the successful termination of his efforts to fly higher than man had ever gone, outside the earth's atmosphere, he promised.

No More Flights

The memory was fresh then of his and his companion's narrow escapes from death, first by suffocation in their airtight aluminum sphere which they could not open, and later by hunger and cold on the Tyrolean glacier.

At that time neither was in a mood to make a new attempt.

"Don't think now that I have eaten my word," Professor Piccard commented when announcing that he would himself pilot his balloon in his new excursion.

"I promised my dear wife to let the stratosphere alone, and not to expose her again to all those terrible hours of uncertainty and deadly doubt which were hers while I was up so high on what, despite our precautions, was a hazardous expedition."

Regretted His Promise

"When I began my preparations for construction of a second gondola I did not think of piloting the balloon myself," said Sam Fidone, 19, the son, as he asked police court to witness the arraignment. He spoke earnestly.

But through a police ruse, Sam was not even permitted to attend the court session. Detective Inspector Ben Danbaum, fearing flooded in the courtroom, announced the arraignment was postponed until next Wednesday. Immediately after Sam and other relatives left, Fidone was taken to court, where he pleaded not guilty to a charge of first degree murder. He was held to district court without bond.

Fidone, who surrendered soon after he shot his 48-year-old wife, Louise, the mother of his 10 children, confessed to police he killed her when she advised him she was through for him forever.

Milnor Assistant Quits Grain Corporation Job

Chicago. —(P)—Josh Chilton, assistant to George L. Milnor, general manager of the Farmers National Grain corporation has resigned, effective Aug. 15. He will enter the employ of the Archer-Daniels-Midland company, Minneapolis grain firm.

In making the announcement, Milnor said:

"We expect following this, reports that there's a big shakeup on in the Farmers National. There'll be no other changes and no reorganization of any kind. This is a case of the old line grain companies, crisscrossing us for high salaries, just paying a higher salary to get one of our best men away from us."

Alleged Alky Cache Burned In Farm Fire

Owners of Building Unaware That Liquor Was Stored in Building

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a barn on a farm owned by Wulk, Inc., of Marion, east of the city, Wednesday morning. After the fire it was discovered that alleged alcohol, at an estimated value of $11,000 had been destroyed by the flames. The barn had not been used by the Wulk brothers, Dan and Walter, during the summer, and they were unable to account for the presence of the alcohol in the structure. There was no tenant occupying the farm when the fire started. The loss to the building, in which there was a small quantity of hay and seed corn stored, was estimated at $2,000 partially covered by insurance.

One thousand one-gallon cans and 50 50-gallon cans were found in the wreckage after the fire, making a total of 3,500 gallons of alcohol which had been destroyed by the flames. This fuel added to the intensity of the flames. The fire was discovered by neighbors who called the Marion fire department, but the flames had made such headway by the time the department arrived that nothing could be done to save the building.

Sheriff Arthur Steenbock, Waukegan, said the facts in connection with the fire had not been reported officially to him and that he knew nothing about any investigation.

Arkansas Divorce Law Before Supreme Court

Little Rock, Ark. —(P)—The state supreme court has been asked to decide the validity of Arkansas' 90-day divorce law.

An appeal from a chancellor's ruling that a person can not acquire a bona fide residence by coming to this state simply to obtain a divorce, and that such a proceeding is a "fraud on the court," was filed in the supreme court yesterday.

Chancellor C. E. Johnson of Texarkana, declared the quick divorce statute invalid, in dismissing the petition of Mrs. Flora Squire, until last September a resident of Gary, Ind., who asked for a divorce from Hess F. Squire on the ground of cruelty, and sought custody of an 8-year-old son.

Fidone testified she left her husband and went to Texarkana. After 60 days residence there, she filed a divorce suit. Under Arkansas divorce law the decree could be granted 30 days later, but in this case, Chancellor Johnson dismissed the petition for want of equity and the case was appealed.

Son Wants to Act as Father's Executioner

Omaha. —(P)—Police and court officials today heard a 19-year-old son's plea that he be permitted to act as his father's executioner when James Fidone, 61, appeared for arraignment on a charge of slaying his wife Thursday night.

"I want to pull the switch that kill my father in the electric chair," said Sam Fidone, 19, the son, as he asked police court to witness the arraignment. He spoke earnestly.

But through a police ruse, Sam was not even permitted to attend the court session. Detective Inspector Ben Danbaum, fearing flooded in the courtroom, announced the arraignment was postponed until next Wednesday. THE BRITISH LOOK US OVER

An election in America appears to hold much more interest to the people of other nations than their own internal affairs attract us.

The important English Dailies keep correspondents in this country who not only furnish news items but about as impartial opinions and judgments as may be formed by those dissociated with interest in the final outcome.

The English do not give Mr. Hoover an even break for the presidency. The News Chronicle applauds the nomination of Roosevelt and says: "His speech on nomination echoes once more the enthusiasm for liberal causes for which he knows how to fight. What the effort may be in America remains to be seen, but the invitation to the nations to forget the past and sit at the table with us as friends and plan with us the restoration of the trade of the world will certainly receive from the rest of the world the warm welcome it deserves."

The London Times looks at the situation more critically. It says: "Mr. Roosevelt has only secured the election after a struggle which has left a large section of his party in a mood of bitter resentment, and as a result of the last-minute arrangement with the supporters of Speaker Garner for which an embarrassing price may have to be paid. A few months ago the Democratic victory in the Presidential election appeared inevitable. Since then, open discussions in the party have weakened its chances and at the moment President Hoover's chances would seem at least as good as Mr. Roosevelt's."

"There is, however, still a long time to go and the issue may well be determined by developments in the interval for which neither has any responsibility."

A WISE KING

There has just died in England Manoel who was King of Portugal some twenty-two years ago. He was deposed in one of the upheavals so common among a people who know of no other way of satisfying a political craving than to tip over the State House.

Manoel became a most irritating pawn to the various European parties which spend their time trying to place kings back on thrones. Manoel did not care a snap about the throne, which prompted Henri Bernstein, the French dramatist who loved the chill glamour and empty tinsel of monarchy, to declare that "the young Prince was not presented to Europe a very sportsmanlike spectacle."

Manoel still insisted that he was a first-class sportsman, that he did not want to be king and that a sportsman did not go after things to suit the cravings of other than his own desires.

We do not know that anyone else has ever claimed for Manoel statesmanlike qualities, but he appears as one of the few men to wear a crown who realized that the lifting of it to his head was not worthy of the effort.

A CONGRESSIONAL DUTY

The Chicago Herald-Examiner printed a dispatch from Congressman Britten of Illinois, whom the newspaper designates as one of the leaders in the fight to pay Chicago's school teachers and other public employees in full, in which Mr. Britten declares that in his twenty years in congress he has never worked so hard or so earnestly as he has on the two billion dollar relief bill, through the terms of which he expects Chicago to be able to borrow from the federal government 75 or 100 million dollars.

Quite obvious to one of the principal reasons of Chicago's distress, Mr. Britten says, "Chicago is the only city in the world legally restrained from collecting its back taxes," and that "if it were not for the impossible tax tangle, Chicago's budget would be balanced, our school teachers and other city and county employees would have been paid in full."

After we erase the Eighteenth Amendment we need a new one. We must have a provision that when any city can't run its own affairs, and the people of any state cannot pass practical laws to prevent big business and commercial houses from getting injunctions restraining the collection of taxes all our city fathers need do is wire Washington "collect" for money.

We might, under this system, have emergency laws all prepared so that when demands for money became heavy, sales taxes, income taxes and inheritance taxes would all start up the ladder to give the government enough money to pay the cities that haven't enough brains to run their own affairs.

Thus when Big Bill the Booster and his gang drained Chicago's treasury, or Tammany that of New York or the spirit of Abe Reuf comes back to clean up every nickel of municipal money in San Francisco the rest of the country in brotherly fashion will all chip in to pay for municipal corruption in the great centers of population.

And Congressman Britten is working "harder than he ever worked before!"

But why not work on a law to be submitted to the Illinois legislature compelling the payment of all taxes and a suit for recovery by the complaining taxpayer, a procedure that will pay all teachers and other municipal employees, let the city live, protect the taxpayers too and abolish the necessity for a tin cup in outstretched hands begging for alms?

But there aren't so many votes for a congressman in following that course.

HOME RUN OR FOUL?

Across these many leagues of rolling waves the announcement by the British government of a tariff of 100 per cent on Irish Free State goods looks like a piece of retaliation of a most effective nature.

For many generations the sympathies of the world have gone out to Ireland as they have naturally found their way to every oppressed people. The formation of the Irish Free State with the consent of the great majority of its people seemed the end of its constant disputes with Britain. Under the Treaty the Free State is as free as Canada, and Canada is freer than the United States. Its connection with the British Empire is formal and yet valuable. The amounts of money to be paid were for actual property taken and did not include a proportionate share of the gigantic debt of Great Britain.

But the Irish are living up to their reputation for fondness for political issues as well as fearlessness of the consequences of a struggle. The rule of President Cosgrave was becoming irksome. Things were so quiet. Everyone was working and the land much too happy.

So Mr. DeValera conceived the idea which became a successful political slogan. He found out that Ireland was not free at all. He soon had the "ould sod" weeping because of its wretched condition. Songs of centuries ago were revived. Robert Emmett and other Irish martyrs were resurrected. The Irish simply could not resist putting a little Spanish tobacco in the soup.

Now they face ruin or retreat, a loss of material things or humiliation. That is not an unlikely end when any people follow political leaders who are good at telling fairy stories.

YOU WRITE IT

Senator Tydings, Democrat, challenged the Republican members of the Senate to say that any one of them would or could write a resolution embodying the proposed Republican re-submission plank concerning prohibition. He has been unable to find a member of the United States Senate who will undertake the task. Apparently, it cannot be done.

Senator Smoot, lifelong Republican, wheelhorse of the G. O. P. who has unfalteringly followed wherever the titular leader has led, gave a pretty good appraisal of the Republican plank. "I do not care what the platform is," he declared. "I do not care if the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed. I will do all I can to prevent its repeal."

How is there any escape from Senator Tydings' apt rejoinder: "That testifies eloquently to the fact that the Republican plank was a political plank and not a plank of conviction."

The public still awaits the appearance of a man of sufficient courage to win the Congressional Medal of Honor. It will need such a one to even attempt to write a resubmission plank under the Republican platform.

We doubt whether it is possible of performance.

The U. S. Department of Commerce has found that in the 56 years the average person lives he consumed about 106,400 pounds of food. Total beef consumed during that interval would be 3,416 pounds. It is estimated.

In 1832 Engels wrote to Marx that the great day was approaching. In 1833 he wrote again that France was on the verge of ruin, that the revolution was a matter of months. What the Communists of today forget is that Marx and Engels constantly revised their theories as fast as they were contradicted by facts.

PEACE COURAGE

When clouds are gray and cannons roar,
To die for freedom men go forth.
And East and West and South and North,
From Lake to Gulf and shore to shore,
See brave men put their pleasures by,
Prepared for liberty to die.

All through the weary marches long
They smell the cannon's fetid breath.
Encamped upon the field of death
They'll bolster courage with a song,
And 'gainst the foe's grim barricade
Rush, charging, cheering, unafraid.

God grant us in these troubled days
The courage war-time seems to give;
Make all men brave enough to live,
To tread the storm-swept uphill ways,
And face the tasks of lesser strife
As soldiers—unafraid of life.

If men who march to die can sing,
Does trouble peace more terrors hold,
That failure makes our blood run cold
And care becomes a fearful thing?
Should we let faith and courage break,
Called on to live for freedom's sake?

A GREAT BENEFACTOR OF THE HUMAN RACE

Fifty years ago in a month Dr. Robert Koch of Germany made a discovery which has proved to be one of the greatest contributions to human welfare and happiness. He succeeded in isolating the germ causing tuberculosis. He demonstrated that a tiny rod-shaped organism multiplying in human bodies produced ailments which accounted for about one-seventh of the mortality of his time.

Koch discovered no cure for the disease and half a century of tremendous achievements in medical science failed to produce such a specific and reliable remedy as the knowledge of Koch's discovery furnished. Science and hygiene of health authorities have greatly reduced the tuberculosis death rate.

The great value of Koch's discovery proved to be in the field of accurate diagnosis with the consequent possibility of combating the disease in its earliest manifestations. And out of this increase of knowledge, also, has come recognition of the importance in dealing with the disease, of providing correct hygienic proper environment, rest and proper food.

Not the least of these accessory discoveries has been that learning upon safeguarding the milk supply. So important has this proved that the one factor of tuberculin testing of cattle is counted one of the chief influences contributing to the lessened virulence of tuberculosis over large areas.

The name of that modest country doctor, Robert Koch, surely deserves enrollment among those of great benefactors of the human race. —Detroit News.

Personal Health Talks

A LITTLE LESSON IN PHYSIOLOGY FOR VICTIMS OF THE AUTOINTOXICATION OBSESSION

There are no sensory nerves in the colon (large intestine) and hence there is no sensation there. The time required for food to pass entirely through the alimentary tract is about 33 hours, though some foods may complete the trip in 9 or 10 hours in a normal person. The control or regulation of the entire process of digestion from the time the food is swallowed till its residue is evacuated is autonomic, that is, under the unconscious, sympathetic, involuntary nervous system. These autonomic functions such as the beating of the heart, the breathing, and the various stages of digestion, are always better performed if one keeps one's mind off from them or better, if one's mind is occupied with pleasant thoughts.

The desire that tells a normal person it is time to evacuate is a "muscle sense" produced by distension of the terminal part of the alimentary tube.

It is a crude, a ludicrous notion that the colon is a "sewer" which should be kept flushed out. The physiologists have found that nothing of consequence is absorbed from the colon except water—much water is absorbed from the contents of the colon into the blood. Curiously enough practically no water is absorbed from the contents of the stomach. When much water is taken into the stomach almost all of it quickly passes on into the intestine, where some of it is absorbed from the small intestine, and more from the large intestine. I am speaking now of normal conditions.

A little sub-station of the autonomic or "sympathetic" nervous system, in the abdomen, is called Auerbach's plexus and this has been dubbed the "brain of the intestine" by Professor Carlson, a distinguished physiologist. It is a brain much older and better organized than that of man, says Dr. Horace W. Soper, St. Louis internist, yet man lightly interferes with a biological function established in all forms of life throughout the ages.

The normal condition of the contents of the lower colon in all vertebrates, including man, is dry. Victims of the auto-intoxication obsession imagine restoration of normal bowel function consists in attempting to change the contents of the colon from dry to liquid, by means of free diets, habitual use of medicines, enemata or irrigation.

Various investigators have found that in health the residue as evacuated consists of from 25 to 33 per cent of bacteria by weight. That being true it should be obvious that the attempt to keep the colon free from bacterial activities (fermentation or putrefaction) is futile. It is really a kind of insanity, and in some instances it becomes actual insanity.

Only a person utterly ignorant of physiology can think of a so-called "internal bath" as anything else than absurd.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Gasoline for Ringworm

An extraordinary number of reports have been received from readers who have found the suggestion of Dr. J. R. Crawford highly satisfactory. Dr. Crawford observed that ordinary gasoline (not ethyl) gives instantaneous relief to the itching and lacerations in many cases of "athlete's foot," ringworm, trichophytosis, fungus foot itch. He advises immersion of the foot for six or eight seconds in gasoline. This may be repeated daily for several days if necessary.

Heroic Treatment

Tell your correspondent with the ganglion or weeping snail on his wrist to clench the fist tightly and then have some one give the lump several sharp raps with the knuckles. It will hurt plenty, but the ganglion will disappear. At least mine did after the sack of thick fluid was broken like that. (Mrs. C. B.)

Answer: I can't do it. I kept my own ganglion a good 10 years rather than try that treatment on it. Finally it just disappeared without any treatment.

Rabies

We would appreciate an article from you proving your statement that rabies is the same as blood poisoning. We would also like to have your reasons for not believing the Pasteur treatment a cure for rabies. (Health Instruction Class, High School.)

Answer—I made no such statement. I think the occurrence of rabies in man is scientifically doubtful. Pasteur treatment is ineffective as treatment, though it may be effective as a preventive if administered before the illness begins. I surmise that fatalities in persons presumed to have rabies are really due to tetanus (lockjaw). The cause of rabies (in animals) has not been scientifically determined. Pathologists sometimes differ in their opinions whether the so-called negri bodies are present in the brain tissue examined. No one has proved that the negri bodies are or contain the causative agent of rabies. It is all a matter of opinion. If I were bitten by a presumably rabid dog I should want to receive the Pasteur treatment if my doctor advised it. Likewise I'd give any one so bitten the benefit of the doubt.

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran

THE auto had been built to fall to pieces, and that wasn't all. It had a couple of tires that were ready to go flat.

The Tynmites' head had its effect and Duncy shouted, "Oh, we're wrecked," when both the tires blew out: wind that caught poor Duncy's hat.

"Don't worry," said the funny clown. "This auto may turn upside-down, but we will be all right, I'm sure. I've run this thing before."

"You see, it is a crazy thing, I hop in it and have my fling. When things begin to happen it makes everybody roar."

"All hold on tight and you will see how funny this machine can be." Then he pressed on a lever and the auto seat went flop.

Of course this startled every lad. I feel like I am going to fall. Perhaps we'd better stop."

The clown replied, "Don't worry, son. We're merely having lots of fun. I'll bring the seat back up again, so you'll be safe and sound."

But when the seat rose in the air, it gave the Tynmites a scare and Duncy cried, "I've had enough," as he jumped to the ground.

The other Tynmites did the same. The clown then shouted, "Watch the flame!" And, instantly, the queer machine began to sputter and spark.

"Those are real Roman candles," boys," the clown said. "Listen to the noise!" Then, when the flames had died out he exclaimed, "That ends my luck."

In just a moment Coppy found a treat. It was a big greyhound. "They're training him to jump real high," he shouted. "Gee, what fun!" The trainer said, "Stand where you are and I will let you hold the bar." Just then the Tynmites grabbed it and the dog came on the run.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York — I held a match for the other two smokers at our table in a neat little restaurant in West Forty-seventh street, where most of the patrons are vaudevillians. Then I nearly touched the same match to my own cigaret—a gesture that defies the pet superstition of many persons who don't share all the credulity of stage folk.

Fritz Hubert, young, red haired comic, almost swept the dishes off the table in his effort to stop me.

"Not three on one match, please," he pleaded.

"Just like an actor," spoofed our check-paying friend.

"Sure, I'm superstitious," Fritz readily admitted. "More than ever, right now. I'm going back on my jinx stage in a few days, and I don't want any more hard luck."

Hubert recalled his two tough breaks within a year on the boards of a Broadway vaudeville house.

Jinx Takes An Encore

The performer from Puyallup, Washington, is teamed in his comedy act with his sister, Jean Hubert. They have some goofy business illustrating the after-effects of too much cork smelling, and Fritz takes some nasty falls all over the stage.

They were in their glory July 4, a year ago, at last in the big house, the goal of all vaudevillians. Fritz was working his hardest. He took an elaborate lunge, kicked against the proscenium wall—and broke his ankle.

A few weeks ago they were back there again. Both determined to work their heads off, but Fritz, poor fellow, nearly knocked his off. They used a back drop of light fabric. Fritz surged against this drop. Stage hands had left a grand piano too close behind it. As Fritz fell he struck his right temple against the piano. That was the last he knew until the doctors were through taking ten stitches.

That dive of Fritz's was the usual cue for Jean to strike a silly pose with her back to him, and stay that way until her brother yelled to her from the floor. She struck her pose and waited—and waited. No yell. She spoke his name under her breath. No response. So, keeping in character, she staggered over to where he lay. Blood was flowing from Fritz's head.

It was her trouper's instinct to carry off the scene without arousing the audience to alarm. Clowning all the while, she pulled the light drape forward, over Fritz's body. Then, as the orchestra blared "I Got Rhythm," she reeled to the wings. The audience laughed.

So you see Fritz Hubert doesn't want to have three cigarettes lighted off one match, or walk under a ladder, or have a black cat cross his path.

Punkin Center on a Sunday is not much deadlier than New York on a Saturday afternoon when the mercury has hurried the 80 degree mark. The only crowds there are on the highways and trains, heading toward beaches and green pastures.

The fashionables still flock to Belmont park race track. Whether they bet as much as ever, I don't know. New York doesn't keep a legal account of bets; it simply shuts its eyes to 'em.

BALKAN VICTORY

On July 9, 1913, Franco-Italian troops taking part in the Balkan campaign gained an important victory when they took Fieri and captured the heights between Levani and the monastery of Pohani.

From this advantageous point, French and Italian soldiers had full command of the territory for miles around Fieri, and were well sheltered from counter-attacks.

Rumors Abroad Wilhelm Ready To Take Power

Ghost of Hohenzollernism Stalks Across German Political Stage

Berlin (AP)—With the government in the hands of avowed rightists most of whom are aristocrats, and Hitler's Nazis expressing their approval, the ghost of Hohenzollernism again stalks the German stage.

The peremptory dissolution of the reichstag, rumors of an impending change in the republican constitution and of the appointment of a commissioner with dictatorial powers over Prussia, make republicans apprehensive that the rightists are preparing the way for a monarchy.

And the rightists—the nationalists and the Nazis—are now a potent force. Riding on the wave of nationalism they have an excellent chance for increasing their following in the reichstag election of July 31.

The rumor factories have it, despite authoritative denials, that President von Hindenburg will resign on his 85th birthday next October and recommend that the former crown prince, Friedrich Wilhelm, assume temporary administration of Germany.

The timid element among the republicans fears just such a development. They discount or ignore all denials and point out that the rightists possess many facilities for preparing public opinion to accept such a step.

Watch Holland Parleys

The reported trip of the ex-crown prince to Holland to visit his father, and reports that this followed a consultation at Doorn between the ex-emperor and General Franz von Epp leader of the Bavarian Nazis, caused audible moans of apprehension in left and centrist circles.

Moreover they have constantly in mind the plain talk by Adolf Hitler, chief of Germany's largest party.

His persistent attacks on the "November system" republic, his appeals for a return to the old Prussian spirit, his out-spoken denigration of the Hohenzollerns never once have raised a hoarse or a jeer from the millions who have heard him.

The last session of the Prussian diet heard a vivid eulogy of the Hohenzollerns by the Nazi floor-leader, Wilhelm Kube.

Attacking a communist motion to abolish the pensions and damages paid to former royalty, he said:

"We national socialists honor the great past of our people and nation. Without the Hohenzollerns, without Frederick the Great, without Wilhelm I, not a single one of you in the opposition would be sitting here."

Claims Workers' Support

"If you've no further complaint to bring against our comrade, Prince August Wilhelm except that he is a Hohenzollern, let me remind you that no Braun or Severing (republican ministers of Prussia) but the Hohenzollerns made Prussian history!"

"None of you can deny that the biggest part of the working class would rather march shoulder to shoulder with a Hohenzollern than with a Jewish profiteer."

"And when the November republicans have to get out of Prussia, there will be an exodus which will make the flight of the children of Israel look like child's play!"

In the same debate, one plain spoken German nationalist, deputy said:

"We nationalists want it to be known that with the end of democracy we want Germany to revert to the monarchy!"

"The hour is at hand," Hitler warned only a few days ago, predicting Nazi elevation to power. "It is five minutes to twelve."

Meanwhile the nationalist press is reprinting copious articles from the Rothmere papers in England which argue that a Hohenzollern court in Berlin would bring a trade revival for all of Europe.

Windows of Clam Shells Pass Ultraviolet Rays

Los Angeles (AP)—Panels of shells from clam fish from the Philippine Islands are being used here for enclosed portable sun baths.

The shells, though not transparent, transmit both ultraviolet and infrared rays.

Charles P. Stewart found windows in Philippine homes made from the shell of a clam fish said to be found only on the islands, and tests made by Dr. Edwin Pettit of the Wilson observatory indicate it will not become soiled or opaque from continual exposure, as does the special glass usually used to transmit ultraviolet rays.

The lower shell of the Philippine clam is thin and flat and can be cut into four or five-inch squares.

First "Spirit of '76" Was Meant for Cartoon

Cleveland (AP)—Coincidence: dedication of a marker located here the site of the house in which A. M. Willard painted the famous picture "The Spirit of '76" it was disclosed that the artist originally intended to draw only a cartoon.

T. A. Willard, of Beverly Hills, Calif., nephew of the artist, is author for the story. He says that Willard drew a cartoon to create a laugh at the players who with life and drum used to prance in fourth of July parades.

The picture was placed on exhibit in the window of a photographer where it attracted serious attention. Willard then decided to make a painting on the subject.

Plant Lawns in Fall for Best Results Next Year

BY W. A. TAYLOR
Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

Successful planting of lawn grasses depends on the same basic rules that govern most good gardening—good drainage, good soil, plenty of organic matter and plant food, thorough preparation, good seed, and intelligent care.

Spring is usually a time for patching lawns, for seeding bare spots and weedy areas. But if this does not produce satisfactory results, in most of the United States, midsummer and early fall is much the best season to establish a lawn.

Start making the lawn several weeks before time to plant it. Plan to plant early enough so that the grass will have time to make good growth before cold weather. In most of the central area of the country July and August is the time for preparation, with planting late in August or early in September depending on when heavy frosts are to be expected.

Get at the Weeds

Beating the weeds is half the battle in establishing a good turf. In lawn, plants such as quack grass, crab grass, and water grass count as weeds. One reason for fall planting is that it affords time for a vigorous attack on weeds. Spade or plow and grade the lawn several weeks in advance of planting. Shake out the roots of the weed grasses.

While the lawn is settling to a firm, clean seedbed, continue the offensive. Apply some fertilizer while the ground is bare and stimulate weed growth. Then rake out, or cultivate out, every weed that develops. Water the area. This brings out the weeds for killing. Watering is also an aid to grading. Leave no low spots where water can collect.

A good lawn will not grow on poor soil. Too often dirt excavated in building is spread over the property. In building it pays to scrape off the top soil before dumping dirt from the cellar.

Conditioning Soil

Most soils need conditioning for lawn planting. In heavy clays an inch or more of sand worked into the upper six inches of soil will lighten it; in shady soils clay will help. On many properties it will pay to buy enough rich loam and well rotted manure to spread in a layer an inch or two deep on the surface.

A few days before seeding apply a fertilizer high in nitrogen—a mixture of three parts of cottonseed meal and one part sulphate of ammonia is good—or a 6-8-4 commercial fertilizer. Apply 15 to 20 pounds to each square foot, rake it in thoroughly, and wet it down.

Plant high quality seed. Your county agent, state agricultural college, or the U. S. Department of Agriculture will recommend desirable mixtures for specific localities. Sow from three to five pounds of seed to 1000 square feet. A trick that aids even distribution is to broadcast half the seed in one direction, the other half at right angles. Rake and roll the surface lightly, and for the next 10 days or two weeks water the lawn often enough to keep it moist.

Flood Damages 2 Border Cities

Property Loss Over $75,000 in Nogales, Ariz., and Nogales, Sonora

Nogales, Ariz. (AP)—A 4-foot wall of water, sweeping down from the mountains of Sonora as the result of a torrential rain, caused damage estimated at more than $75,000 when it struck the two border cities of Nogales, Ariz., and Nogales, Sonora, last night. Accompanied by high winds, the rain drenched the mountain watersheds and in the hour in which it lasted in Nogales a precipitation of two inches was recorded.

More than a score of adobe houses in Nogales, Sonora, collapsed as the water melted their foundations. The water ripped open streets and caused through business establishments and homes, leaving inches of mud and silt on floors and stocks of merchandise.

Several persons were stranded in their homes, but were carried to safety. No lives were lost, and none were reported injured.

So great was the run of the water from the mountains that it had no time to drive to higher ground. Many abandoned their automobiles which were demolished.

The high water fence separating the United States from Mexico was torn down as debris washed against it.

The business districts of the two cities were hit hardest by the floods as the Arroyo, which ordinarily carries off the flood waters, flow through the center section.

Overcast skies forecast additional rain.

Australian Dairymen Balk: Milk Curtailed

Perth, Australia (AP)—Dairymen have decided to supply no more milk to the people of Perth as present prices.

They demand 28 cents a gallon for their milk but the distributors companies refused to pay more than 22 cents.

So the dairymen announced their intention to turn all their milk into butter. Only sufficient milk for hospitals and orphans and infants will be made available.

The play, an outstanding success in New York, has been endorsed by William Lyman Phelps, Austin Strong, Owen Davis, and John Golden and other outstanding critics.

Menasha — Joseph Majefski, Falcon right hander, will hurl for Menasha in a Little Fox league contest with the Darboy squad on the city ball diamond Sunday afternoon. Majefski, Slumski and Manager "Toner" Konezke will be on deck for relief hurling and Cash will catch.

The Falcons were rained out in a league game with the Appleton Merchants last Sunday and were defeated in an exhibition tilt with the Oshkosh Cardinals July 4.

Committee to Outline Cemetery Regulations

Menasha — A meeting of the city cemetery committee for action relative to the new Resthaven cemetery will follow an adjourned meeting of the common council Tuesday evening, according to city officials. A speaker from Oshkosh will explain rules governing Oshkosh cemeteries and recommendations relative to lot rentals and use of stone markers will be outlined.

Rotary Club President Takes Over New Duties

Neenah — Carl F. Gerhardt, for several years secretary of Neenah Rotary club, has been elected president. He took the chair Thursday noon. Mr. Gerhardt recently returned from the annual convention of Rotary International held at Seattle, Wash. He will submit his report of the convention at a future meeting.

Permits Needed for Night Tennis Play

Menasha — To avoid confusion in the use of the tennis courts at the city park for night play, players will be required to obtain permits for the courts, according to Vernon Gruper, park superintendent. The permits may be obtained from E. H. Schultz, a member of the park board.

FEWER JUNE MARRIAGES

Neenah — The June record of marriages here was far below the total of preceding years, according to Dr. M. N. Pitz, health officer. During June there were only seven marriages, 36 births and eight deaths, according to vital statistics.

Wooden Ware Scouts to Make Plans for Outing

Menasha — Boy scouts of Troop 9 will outline plans for participation in the Valley Council encampment at Onaway island next month at a meeting in the Menasha Woodwar cafe Monday evening. Wesley Olson, scout master, will be in charge.

Voters' League Puts Off Meeting For Several Weeks

Committee Needs More Time in Investigation Of Problems

Menasha — A meeting of the Menasha Voters' league, the central organization of the five ward clubs, scheduled for Tuesday evening at the library auditorium has been postponed for a few weeks, according to F. G. Dexter, league president.

Members of the league executive committee are investigating a number of problems that require additional time and attention before they can be presented for action, Dexter explained. That the distracting influences of the summer months might act to prevent a full attendance at a meeting at this time also was pointed out.

Among the matters under consideration be the league officers is the desirability of joining with other organizations of the city in requesting favorable action on the immunization of pre-school and school children against diphtheria, and the determination of what constitutes adequate police protection in this city.

Would Study Assessment

Citizens also have suggested that an intelligent and comprehensive study of the matter of property assessment together with the employment of a full time assessor might lead to economies and adjustment of inequalities, Dexter revealed in a statement today. The suggestion also has been made that a number of services in city administration including poor commissioner, milk inspector, public health inspector, and building inspector might be combined under one official.

Considerable discussion of the burden of taxation carried by Menasha industries and of the league's policy relative to state-wide problems also is expected.

The league constitution, read at the regular session last month, also will be presented for action at the next meeting.

The first ward club is headed by Fr. Peterson, Second ward by W. E. Held; Third ward by Carl Drexler; Fourth ward by Michael Zielinski; and Fifth ward by F. G. Dexter. Dexter also is president of the central organization and John Geiger is secretary. All of the officers have offered to bring matters of vital interest to Menasha before the league for consideration.

Plan New Polish Group in Menasha

Two Organizers from Milwaukee to Speak at Meeting Here Sunday

Menasha — Organization of Menasha society, affiliated with the Polish National Alliance, will be undertaken at a meeting in St. John school hall at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Joseph Gronczewski and P. Skupski of Milwaukee, organizers, will be the principal speakers.

The Casimir Pulaski group of the Polish National alliance was organized in Menasha about 25 years ago as a part of the Milwaukee district, but successful organization of the new group would permit establishment of new district headquarters here, according to local authorities.

The older group in Menasha is composed largely of foreign born citizens and the newer organization is designed to include native born and younger residents. The national alliance, with headquarters in Chicago, is a social and benevolent organization maintaining a junior college at Cambridge Springs, Pa., an immigrants' home at New York City, and sponsoring a number of college scholarships.

Sea Scouts on Cruise Down River to Kimberly

Menasha — The Sea Scouts of Menasha and Neenah, led by William M. Wright, cruised down the Fox River to Kimberly Thursday in the Cris-Craft owned by Don Shepard of Neenah.

The cruise was made to escort the fleet of cruisers of the Chicago motor yacht club to Lake Winnebago and Fond du Lac but the fleet was delayed by heavy seas at Manitowish. Six boats, two from Appleton and four from Chicago, arrived in Menasha Friday evening and were moored at the Menasha dock for the night.

Kiwanians to Select Convention Delegates

Menasha — Delegates to the Kiwanis district convention at Madison Aug. 7, 8, and 9 will be selected by Menasha Kiwanians at their regular meeting at Hotel Menasha Tuesday noon. An informal discussion of club problems also is planned.

Branch Library is Closed for Summer

Menasha — The branch library at Butte des Morts grade school has been closed for the remainder of the summer but will be reopened when school activities are resumed in September, according to public library officials. Library service at Theda Clark hospital will be continued.

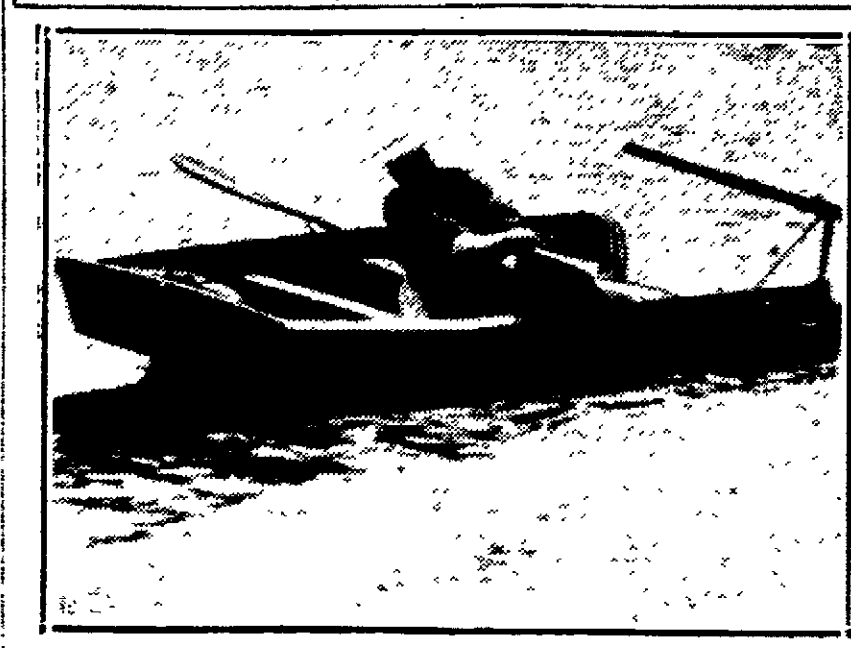

MEET GREEN BAY

Menasha — The Shell Oils, Neenah, will clash with a Green Bay aggregation in Fox River Valley softball league competition at Neenah Sunday morning. The Whiting Papers, Menasha's entry in league play, have drawn a bye for Sunday.

Saturday Night Baths, Plumbers Have Gone Modern

Innumerable Gadgets and Fancy Fixtures Adorn Modern Bathrooms

NEW YORK — Bathrooms are getting complicated. Architects, artists and gadgeteers are being hired to make them so. The National Association of Master Plumbers, which recently held an exposition in Madison Square Garden, proves just how genuinely esthetic and absolutely awe-inspiring a modern bathroom can be.

While bathing used to be just good clean fun, it's now a rite. There was nothing about the prim and pristine whiteness of the average American bathroom to knock your eye out—unless, possibly, it was the corner of the cabinet door. But the modern ones are full of interesting colors and contrivances. They are, in fact, designed to appeal to "those who esteem the mental and almost spiritual significance of beginning the day in beauty."

It wasn't a plumber who wrote that line. It was a "hydrotherapist," which is the name now applied to those "domestic engineers" whose lives are just one pipe after another.

Names of other things have changed, too. Metal fixtures, for instance, have taken on classic and modern designs, and are called "jewelry." The tubs are shown in all sorts of period motifs—Louis XV, Moorish and Decolletian. But the Chippendale tub is passe. A Chippendale tub is one that stands on four legs.

Tubs in Alcoves
Lavatories, tubs, toilets and the new "dental laboratories" are mostly in pastel shades of porcelain, with other harmonizing colors for walls and ceilings. Not so much tile is necessary now that curtained and glass-enclosed tubs are being built in alcoves which permit less splash.

One sample bathroom, said to be ideally designed, offers these advantages:

On the wall beside the spacious, built-in tub is a vertical handrail, with non-skid rubber grip. This offers protection against nose-dives by the slippery-footed standee. To be doubly safe, one can have a non-skid mat in the bottom of the tub.

Instead of being built flush against the wall, where the inevitable crack appears as the house settles, this tub is several inches out, with the intervening space covered by handy shelf for bath salts, soap and brushes.

Although it is said a shower is preferable to a tubbing from the standpoint of cleanliness, the shower does not permit the standing bathers as much relaxation. So now there has been designed a shower chair. It has waterproof cushions and fits in the tub. There the exhausted bather may recline at ease and reflect upon "the spiritual significance of beginning the day in beauty."

Free Scales

The bath over, there are brightly-colored towels at hand for a brisk rub-down. Next one goes to the scales. It isn't necessary to step up on them. They're built into the room, with the platform at floor level and the dial flat with the surface of the wall.

After that comes the sun-bath. From the ceiling, and above the head-bumping level, is suspended a mercury-vapor lamp. Below is a cushioned pallet where one lies at full length. Within easy reach is a

Aldermen to Act On Sodding Bids

10,000 Square Feet to be Laid for New Resthaven Cemetery

Menasha — Bids on 10,000 square feet of sod for the new Resthaven cemetery and on sidewalk construction and repair will be considered by the common council at an adjourned meeting in the council chambers Tuesday evening.

A report by the committee of the whole, relative to the petition for police protection at the city park, presented recently by George Bauta, Jr., park board chairman, also is expected at Tuesday's session. When presented to the council, the petition was referred to the committee with instructions to report back as soon as possible.

A report on the proposed widening of Park-st, suggested by Alderman F. O. Heckord at the regular session last Tuesday, may be made and action on proposals for the purchase of land adjacent to the municipal bathing beach on Lake Winnebago is expected.

Reduction of Pay May Help Wage Workers

Babson Says Prosperity Return Depends on Purchasing Power

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Park, Mass. — Prosperity can return only as purchasing power increases. This means the total payrolls of the country must be built up. The question is how to do it in the shortest possible time. There are at least 10,000,000 people out of work. Obviously, the first thing to do is to get these people employed at some kind of a wage. You can't take all the earning power away from 25 per cent of the working population and expect to have prosperity. But how can business employ more men when sales and prices are so low they won't even cover the present cost of production, let alone pay for more help? I say it is far better for wage workers to accept pay cuts and thus lower production costs so that business can be done and employment can be given, than it is to insist on former wage rates and keep their fellow-workers out of jobs.

Greater Payrolls
I speak not in behalf of capitalists and employers but in behalf of workers. The wages of men and women are more important than the wages of stocks and bonds. In fact, the wages of the latter are absolutely dependent on the well-being of the people. Unless pay cuts to help wage workers there is no excuse for them. It all boils down to a simple matter of arithmetic. In normal times there are about 40,000,000 gainfully employed workers, but now 10,000,000 of them are unemployed. Everybody would be much better off, for instance, if the whole 40,000,000 were employed at an average wage of $2.50 a day than to have 30,000,000 employed at an average of $3. a day. In the first case the total payroll would be $100,000,000 daily whereas at the higher wage with fewer workers the payroll would be only $80,000,000 daily.

Or look at it from the family standpoint. I know of one case of an elderly man with five sons. Two of these sons are earning $4. a day each. The man and the other three sons have been out of work for a year or more. The family, including the six men, a couple of daughters-in-law, and three grand-children, have had to get along on $8. a day. All of these men are able-bodied and of working age. If the four now idle would take work, which they can get at $2. a day each, the family income would be increased from $8. a day to $16. In other words by accepting work at a 50 per cent reduction from former rates the total wages of the family would be increased 100 per cent! Then when business picks up (and it will pick up only as more men get to work), the wage rate will automatically be raised, because gradually more employers will need men than men need jobs.

Cost of Living Down
The cost of living has fallen 21 per cent from the high point, so any worker who has had his wages cut 21 per cent or less is still in a position to maintain as high a standard of living as he ever did. If he has taken a cut of more than that figure he has made a substantial contribution to bringing down costs and is paying the way for better times. If he has taken no cut at all that means he is really receiving 21 per cent more for his labor than he ever did. Statistics show that only half of the workers still employed have received cuts of 20 per cent or less; about one-third of them have received no cuts; and only one-third of them have taken cuts of more than 21 per cent.

Contrast this with the reduction in the prices of some of the commonly used raw materials. Wheat at Kansas City which was $1.25 per bushel in early 1929 now brings around 42 cents. Rubber has been reduced from 49 cents to below 3 cents a pound; corn from $1. a bushel in 1929 to about 30 cents; copper from 19 cents to 8 cents; and cotton from 17 cents to 5 cents a pound; wool from 70 cents in 1929 to 30 cents a pound. The smallest reduction noted in these raw materials is more than 50 per cent, whereas the greatest reduction in labor cost is about 30 per cent. I do not mean that labor will have to take the same cuts that have occurred in raw materials. There will, however, have to be a further reduction in wages before we have made the adjustments necessary to bring costs of necessities and luxuries down to a level where the public simply cannot resist withdrawing savings and buying law-priced commodities.

Must Give Work
I say we must keep men busy at some sort of wage to maintain their morals and their self-respect. If we fail to do this the depression will mean a far greater loss to the loss in trade, the loss in property, the loss in securities, or in other money or property values. The greater assets of this nation are the strong self-reliance and the desire of people to "stand on their own feet." I would be the first to advocate the higher the better. But common-sense tells us that when, owing to depressed conditions, there is only a limited amount of money that business can pay in wages, the only way to put more men to work is to pay each one less. Also the active purchasing power of the country would be greater with more men employed even at lower wage rates.

No matter how much wages one man receives he will buy only a given amount of food, clothing, necessities and luxuries; he will save the remainder. Saving is commendable, but it isn't saving that will relieve this depression. It is Hamacheck's, Kimberly.

Dressler, Beery Voted Most Popular of Stars

BY DAN THOMAS

Hollywood—Why all this commotion over Greta Garbo's plans for the future? Just exactly how much difference does it make whether she continues her film career or returns to Sweden as she has threatened? If you were living here in Hollywood you would think that the entire future of the motion picture industry depended upon Garbo's decision. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials have done everything but offer her the studio in order to keep her in Hollywood. The whole community has been running an all-too-high temperature over the possibility that she may return to her native land. And for why? In a poll recently conducted among exhibitors throughout the country by the Motion Picture Herald, film trade paper, to determine the relative popularity of our stars, Marie Dressler won hands down. She didn't even have any competition for the top spot. And the best Garbo could grab, despite all the commotion she has created, was fourth place.

All this furor over one short sentence—"I think I go home"—couldn't possibly be the outcome of an extremely well planned exploitation scheme, could it? With Miss Dressler leading by a comfortable margin, others in the feminine division included Janet Gaynor in second place, Joan Crawford and Norma Shearer stepping right on her heels to get fifth rating.

The relative positions of Crawford and Garbo are interesting in view of the condemnation Joan has received recently on the grounds that she was trying to imitate the Swedish star. This poll proves rather conclusively that the majority don't look upon Joan as an imitator. At least I never have known of an imitation achieving greater success than the original. I am not trying to take a bit of glory away from Garbo. But we can't overlook the fact that the Misses Dressler, Gaynor and Crawford all are outdressing their contemporary at the box office.

Guess they'll keep right on making pictures after all, even if Garbo does go home—which she won't.

In the male division of this poll, we find Wallace Beery out in front, with a rating slightly less than Joan Crawford's. Seemingly, though the women are more than grabbing honors today—three of them ahead of the most popular man. Others in their respective places are Will Rogers, Charles Farrell, Clark Gable and Wheeler and Woolsey as a team.

There you have the ten most popular film stars of today, at least in the opinion of theater owners. Of course this rating might not be quite accurate. The exhibitors voted according to the stars who brought in the most money during the last year. It's a pretty fair test to be sure. But it does eliminate such actors as Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, neither of whom has had a new picture out during the last 18 months.

Runners-up for honors on the feminine list are Sally Eilers, Constance Bennett, Marlene Dietrich, and Barbara Stanwyck. Among the men, those just under first division are Joe E. Brown, Maurice Chevalier, James Dunn, Eddie Cantor, the Marx Brothers, Jackie Cooper, George Arliss, Robert Montgomery, Warner Baxter and Richard Dix.

From this it would seem that the job of staying on top will be a bit tougher in the masculine ranks than in the feminine.

CAMERA DOESN'T LIE
Indianapolis Ind. — Municipal Judge Clifton Cameron was confronted with some evidence that couldn't lie if it wanted to. Mrs. Eloise Walton was the one who produced it. She was one of 12 persons arrested and held on a charge of disregarding a traffic stop sign. When asked if she plead guilty, she said no. "And why?" asked the prosecutor. "Because of these," she replied and produced two photos which showed that the sign was so bent and twisted as to be illegible. She and the other defendants were freed.

the buying of goods and the maintenance of trade. Consider the 10,000,000 men totally out of work. They haven't any income and what they would mean to business as consumers were they given some work at any wage. It is the old story that one man can wear only one suit, one coat at a time whereas 10,000,000 men wear 10,000,000 suits. By paying wages and spreading them, millions more would be enabled to buy at least a fair proportion of the necessities of life.

Employment Vital Issue
The biggest issue before this country today is unemployment. Everything else shades into insignificance beside this one great problem. I am not urging pay cuts to help employers, but to spread employment among more workers. If high wages would and employment I would be the first to advocate the higher the better. But common-sense tells us that when, owing to depressed conditions, there is only a limited amount of money that business can pay in wages, the only way to put more men to work is to pay each one less. Also the active purchasing power of the country would be greater with more men employed even at lower wage rates.

No matter how much wages one man receives he will buy only a given amount of food, clothing, necessities and luxuries; he will save the remainder. Saving is commendable, but it isn't saving that will relieve this depression. It is Hamacheck's, Kimberly.

Cheap Small Car, New '12', Midget May Be Seen Soon

Rumor Says New Model Will Compete in Low-Price Field

BY JAMES F. DONAHUE
Detroit—The first six months of the current automobile year have passed and, along with steadily increased production, comes a host of rumors concerning what we should expect during the last six months of the year.

Within the next two months, Darr Rumor leads us to expect a new four-cylinder car will appear on the market to compete in the low-price field now ruled by Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth. This car, it is said, will retail for the lowest price ever quoted on a small car—about $350.

It is reported that a new bantam will invade the field. This car, built along the lines of the French Mathe which was to have been put into production in this country a year ago, is already in trial production, it is said, and the new car, changed considerably in design, may be adopted by an American manufacturer.

A Rumor, of Course
Going from one size extreme to another, we hear that one Detroit manufacturer has a 12-cylinder creation all ready to spring on the market. This car will sell in the middle-price field and is said to have plenty of speed.

From the realms of rumor we come to reality and find that two fairly important developments have been made which should improve the quality of cars produced within the next year.

The first is a new brake lining which is used on both sides. The lining, known as a "floating lining," is free from the brake band. It has not riveted connections with this unit. The lining will be twice as effective and considerably longer in life than the common linings it is reported.

Another new development is a new undercoating for automobiles which will keep them better protected from rust. This substance is in the form of a paste which is diluted with water and sprayed on the body before the other coats are applied. This undercoating is said to be almost nearly insusceptible to water, tough enough to stand up to abrasive action, and nearly impervious from metal after years of use.

Rah, Rah, Rah!
One manufacturer who is taking out in a big way for color is the One of the cars to be introduced in contrast to the current model, only to have this color scheme. The firm to come off the production line will bear the colors of Michigan, Yale and Harvard.

Before the year is over according to information from one manufacturer practically all the cars in the medium-price class will offer "dual" or "two" standard equipment. This is expected to be done before snow time next January.

Dealers have been asked to mark up freight charges to increase profit margins by a few dollars. One of the largest manufacturers of cars sanctioned this idea. It doesn't hit the consumer so lightly, especially after all the taxes he's now subjected to under the recent budget balancing tax bill.

Grofe Inspired By Noises From Newspaper Plant

Roar of Presses and Clicking of Typewriters Music to Composer

New York—(AP) — Ferde Grofe, composer of the popular "Three Shades of Blue," and other orchestral works, including the recently completed "Grand Canyon" suite, has found his latest inspiration in the newspaper.

The composition on which he now is engaged has tentatively been titled "Tabloid," and in it Grofe will essay a musical picture of newspaperdom.

The composer's inspiration came when he listened to the clatter of automatic printers, the click of typewriters and the roar of the presses in a newspaper plant, and the musical themes that came to him at that time are now being elaborated in a typical Grofe score. His latest orchestral work, "Metropolis," a few years back gave him impressions of big city life. "Canyon Suite" represented his reaction to a trip to the Grand Canyon; his "Mississippi Suite" was his interpretation of life along the Father of Waters; "Knute Rockne" caught the staccato accents in the life of a great football coach. Now, in "Tabloid" he has turned to newspaper life.

The composition starts with a scene at the city editor's desk, with telephones ringing, typewriters clicking and printing machines clacking," said Grofe, as he turned to the piano to run over the dominant phrases of the work. "The clang of police patrols and fire engines and other themes will be introduced.

"Near the end will come a pause—'30." Then in conclusion will be heard the roar of presses. There is something dynamic in the roll of a great newspaper press. The first time I heard that sound it thrilled and inspired me."

Dedicate New High School Early in Fall

Ceremony to Take Place During August, Board Announces

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Dedication of the new high school will take place next August, it was announced by the board of education this week. No dates or plans have yet been made, but the matter is being considered. It is expected that the school will be open for formal inspection at that time.

Lockers for students and teachers are being installed this week as are light fixtures. While not all furniture has arrived, more is expected and is being placed as it is received.

The walks are being laid this week by a crew of about 15 men. The walk along the front of the building and at the east end has all been laid except for a small gap in front of the gymnasium, which will be completed by Saturday night. A small piece of walk also has been laid along the street and the preliminary steps have been taken preparing the ground for the main walk from the street to the building. Cables are being laid for the lighting of the front. Four light posts will be erected flanking the large concrete circle halfway from the street to the building. Benches will be placed about this circle. Lights also will be placed at necessary places at the rear of the building.

The problem of selecting a janitor is one which now confronts the board. From a list of fully 25 applicants the board must select one man. Whether the janitor will be paid a straight salary which will allow him to hire his own assistants or whether the board will hire the added help is also a matter to be discussed later.

Much remains to be done in the final cleaning up of the building before its formal opening. All floors have been covered with sawdust to prevent damage. Outside walls are being cleared of mortar and some windows have been washed.

Drink of Sulphuric Acid Kills Child

Funeral Services for Bernice Schimke Sunday Afternoon

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Bernice Schimke, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schimke, town of Caledonia, died at 1:30 p. m. today morning from drinking sulphuric acid which was hidden in an upper room of the Schimke residence. The acid was intended for testing milk. The discovery of the child's condition was made by an older sister at about noon on Thursday and the child was hurried to the hospital.

Survivors are the parents; two sisters, Joyce and Eunice; and one brother, Orland. She was born March 21, 1930. The funeral will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon at the Schimke residence and at 2 o'clock at the Caledonia Lutheran church. Burial will be in the cemetery near the church.

Golfers Play Daily To Win Old Medal

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—A little medal attached to a soiled, frayed ribbon is causing more discussion among a certain number of golfers than would a whole basket full of emblems signifying distinguished service in time of war. Possession of this medal is gained by the golfer who makes the lowest mark for the day and nearly every morning a battle is fought while the majority of citizens are still in bed. These golfers form the vanguard of the day's stream of players at the Springvale course and no day begins perfectly any longer without a before-breakfast scrimmage for the possession of the medal.

Thus far competition has been hottest between J. J. Burns and Ben Hartquist. The latter has accused Mr. Burns of broadcasting tales about town which belittle the quality of Mr. Hartquist's golf, and the controversy of the two men is another daily interest. Mr. Burns captured the medal on Thursday and displays it proudly to all comers. It is evident that originally it had little to do with golf, for on one side it bears the facsimile of the frame building at Ripon where the first Republican convention was held, while the other side is engraved with the words, "In Memory of the Republican Convention of 1929."

Relief, Costs to Be Discussed by Kimberly Board

Will Hold Extra Meeting Every Month at No Charge to Village

Kimberly—The village board at its meeting Tuesday decided to meet in extra session once each month to discuss unemployment relief and ways and means of holding down municipal costs. The members will make no charge against the village for these meetings.

Bills and claims against the general fund Tuesday were extremely heavy so the board tightened its belt another notch in order to avoid borrowing money at this time. The treasurer's report, covering the 70th annual school, village hall, and general funds, was read by treasurer L. C. Clark.

After the marshalling, Frank Van Linschout, had addressed the board on abolishing the old system of making application for the appointive positions in the village, the board voted to refuse any applications after the charter spring election, and to carry on with the same group as long as it gives satisfactory service.

The question of making final settlements on the new village hall with the Martin Boldt and Sons, contractors, and the Paul E. Mueller company, heating contractor, was again debated. The board voted to place the matter in the hands of the village president, clerk, and attorney, and the architect, F. J. Stepnoski.

The village street department has completed oiling the cinder and gravel streets in the village and street commissioner, Frank Van Linschout, stated that in the future they would need an 8,000 gallon car instead of a 6,000 in order to do a thorough job of oiling. The board voted to repair all the broken sidewalks in the village, the work to be done by local men under the supervision of the street department.

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams.

SYNOPSIS: The members of Ashwood's "house party," whom he is holding for ransom, are awakened by a scream to find Stevens, a detective, Calhoun and Battles, intercepted before they attacked Ashwood's island, are awaiting a chance to help Nancy Wentworth and the other captives.

CHAPTER 23
ON THE BEACH

BENEATH the washstand in the far corner was a steel and silver table knife, its edge still gleaming redly in the light. A few inches away lay a wrinkled table napkin, its corner and one edge drenched with blood.

Stevens, looking down at the exhibits, studying knife and napkin intently. He lifted the latter very gingerly, holding it by the edge with his thumb and forefinger. He carried it beneath the light and studied it, inch by inch. Then, with a depressed sigh, he handed it to Jerry.

"No use looking for finger prints without a microscope," he said regretfully. "Might as well pick up the knife, too. The hint that did Williams in stole the knife and the napkin at dinner time, wrapped the handle of the knife in the napkin, so as not to leave any prints. Better take care of them, kid, and we'll look them over in the morning. But I don't believe we'll find anything."

"I'll send for Alfred and see from whose place the things were stolen," suggested Ashwood.

"No use," declared the detective pessimistically. "If the feller was smart enough to cover up his finger prints this way, he wouldn't have stolen the tools from his own place. Might be the best way of finding out who did not do it, though. The one whose things were missing is innocent."

He roved around the room restlessly, his faded eyes examining everything. Then he straightened up, looked at Ashwood and shook his head.

"One of these homicide experts could find a lot, maybe, with the proper instruments — microscope, chemicals, and such. But I don't see a thing that looks like a clue. The fibre of this rug doesn't hold the imprint of my own feet, even, for more than two-three seconds after I step down hard on it. No bloody finger marks except those this poor devil made when he tried to crawl off the bed. Clothes aren't mussed and no attempt made at robbery. Don't see any motive at all."

"All right, then," snapped Ashwood decisively. "I'll lock the door and have the men clean up in the morning."

The three filed out silently. The others, Lucci, Mallory, Martin, Butties and Hamilton, were still standing nervously in the hall, guarded by the armed and vigilant Mueller. The cripple locked the bedroom door, then wheeled about and faced the others.

"Gentlemen," he announced curtly, "someone has just murdered Mr. Williams. If any of you have heard any suspicious sounds this evening, I would like you to tell me."

There was a shuddering gasp from one of the listening men, but all stood there, gazing at Ashwood as though hypnotized. He surveyed each of them in turn, in the order of their nearness to the door leading into the scene of the tragedy.

Then, amid the deathly silence that hung over the strange tableau, the sound of running feet was heard. Something about the hastening footsteps caused a chill to run through the listeners. It seemed to come to all, simultaneously, that the rapidly approaching men were bringing news that would add to the horror of the night.

Ashwood, his face stony, waited. One of the guards, panting, raced down the corridor. Seeing the strange group, he hesitated, his eyes darting from one white face to another. Then he blurred out his news.

"Boss, Di Michael's been croaked. Throat cut. His gat and all his ammunition's gone."

Ashwood again scanned the face of each man who stood there in the hall. He studied each expression searchingly, lingeringly, as though he might read the guilt or innocence of each in the breathless silence which had enveloped them all like a fog. At length, his face showing no shade of emotion, he stepped forward.

"Will you gentlemen kindly go to your rooms and remain there?" His tone was more a suggestion than a command.

"Hell!" burst out Lucci, his face contorted. "I'm going to sit in the big room. I'm not going to have anyone creeping in and slitting my pipes for me."

The cripple studied Lucci's face thoughtfully.

"You may suit yourself about sitting up," he acknowledged indifferently, "but if you do, it will be in the safety and the seclusion of your own room. If anyone disturbs your meditations, you may shout for assistance. Mueller will stand watch here in the hall."

There was an instant's silence. Jerry tensed his muscles in anticipation of a sudden clash. Lucci glanced at Mallory who, now cold sober, returned the look meaningly. The flyer was amazed to note that for the moment, at least, these two were allies, not enemies. He saw Mallory's heavy form gather itself for a spring. Lucci, too, stood on the balls of his feet, his hands opening and shutting.

Ashwood backed swiftly against the wall, his gun pointing at Lucci's midriff. Mueller's automatic covered Mallory. The outside guard moved close to the gangster, patting him deftly in search for a weapon. The gangsters' malevolent eyes glanced at the armed men, then he relaxed and submitted docilely to the search. Mallory, too, was swiftly examined. Jerry could see fine beads of perspiration upon the turbulent stockbroker's brow as, by sheer force of will, the man gained control of himself.

"Stevens," said Ashwood, at last. "I wonder if you would accompany me?"

"Sure," replied the detective.

"Calhoun," continued the cripple, "I'd be glad if you and Battles would remain here until we return. You two will please leave your coats open."

Mr. Hamilton laughed, an edged note of hysteria in his voice. He went into his room, bolted the door, but the sound of his shrill laughter was still audible. One after another the others turned away to follow the cripple's instructions. Ashwood, Stevens and the guards were left alone in the hall.

Wordlessly, the detective, the cripple and the outside guard walked to the beach where, bathed in the steely glare of the moon, lay a huddled, distorted figure. A ghastly black smear across his throat told of the manner of his death.

GLIDING POPULARITY

Moscow. — Along with the increasing popularity of powered flying in the Soviet, gliding, too, is getting its share of experimentation. A glider factory is being built here to turn out 1500 sailplanes annually, and the Friends of Aviation, a Russian aeronautics club, plans to organize gliding chapters all over the country. Schools for this type of flying have been set up here, in the Crimea, and Siberia.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Wisconsin Rapids at Green Bay.
Kimberly at Kaukauna.
Shawano at Appleton.

A revamped and revitalized Appleton baseball club will attempt to coax the city's fans through the gate with a revamped price schedule tomorrow afternoon when Appleton and Shawano clash in the regular Sunday afternoon exhibition.

The revamping of the Collegians will be primarily in the pitching box where Al Fons, a right handed toser of more than ordinary ability, will perform. Fons, who hails from Milwaukee is a graduate of Holy Cross University where he won much praise for his efforts on one of Holy Cross' great ball clubs.

After leaving school he joined the Milwaukee Brewers and was having success until he decided his dad's business offered more than baseball. He quit the Brewers with a promising baseball career ahead of him and since has been playing whenever he sought recreation and the old urge got the best of him.

Last Monday he hurled for Eddie Shump's Milwaukee club in the W. I. league and turned in a four hit exhibition although a bit wild.

Playing Shawano
Addition of Fons to the team is expected to perk up the Collegians. Several boys have started hitting the apple to offset the lack of hits from several others on whom much depended. Last week the club lost a heart breaker at Wisconsin Rapids but sees chances of getting back into the win column at the expense of Jerry Kral's luckless Indians from Shawano. The Indians trimmed Appleton in their last meeting at Appleton.

The ticket for the admission prices also was announced during the week and resulted from the recent tax placed on tickets and the fact the management is aware the fans haven't much money. The admission for men has been sliced to 40 cents and that for women has been dropped to 25 cents. There will be no tax on tickets.

Battle at Kaukauna
There should be a battle royal at Kaukauna where Lamers and Co. will attempt to bump Kimberly off the top of the heap. Only half a game separates these clubs. Lefty Behr, or Zenevski will toe the mound for the Papermakers with Rod Ashman receiving. Fortin is billed to twirl for Kaukauna with Pagan in reserve. As usual Shorty Wenzel will catch for the Kaukauna.

Wisconsin Rapids is billed to display its diamond wares in Green Bay and the Sox have been getting in some extra practice licks all week so as to be on edge for the Reed-men. Earl Biot will probably twirl for the Rapids with McLean behind the log. Manager Benny Rosenberg, of Green Bay, plans to use Joe Peteka and Don Morgan as his starting battery.

The valley league executives and club leaders will gather Sunday evening for the July meeting at the Northeastern Wisconsin fair grounds in DePere. This is the annual fun festival and the Green Bay club, which is acting as host at the affair, is promising a great round of entertainment.

Zombro Hanover Wins Randall Track Classic

Cleveland — (AP) — Pacing the fastest quarter-mile in the history of the North Randall track, Zombro Hanover, a bay gelding owned by H. Stacy Smith of Newark, N. J., took three straight heats to win the Edwards stake, yesterday, for 2:12 pacers.

The record quarter was stepped in 27 3-5 seconds, at the end of the opening heat. His time for the three mile-heats was 2:05 1-5, 2:02 and 2:05. He was driven by Will Hodson.

Calmest Aristocrat won the 2:17 trot. The Sportsman stake for three-year-old 2:17 pacers went to Mr. F. W. Win. The 2:21 trot was won by Mack Dillon. The present grand circuit session at North Randall will close with the six races on today's program.

Atlas 8, Bankers 3.
Running up an early lead, which was threatened only once, the Atlas softball team, playing in National league competition at Pierce park last night won its eleventh consecutive victory by defeating the Bankers.

Led by the airtight pitching of Ray Crane, the Atlas aggregation had little difficulty in maintaining its margin of victory throughout the fracas. Crane struck out 11 batters and walked three. Mc Kenzie, who hurled for the Bankers walked two and struck one man out.

The Bankers threatened early in the ninth frame, when Parnell hammered out a circuit clot.

Cubs Take Third In Row; Trounce Phillies, 6 to 4

Pittsburgh Pirates Score Run in Last Frame To Trim Giants

Associated Press Sports Writer
RANCH RICKEY, straw boss of the Cardinals, undoubtedly assured the National league a swell race, both artistically and financially, when he began tossing parts from his championship machine here and there a few months ago, but it looks now like he might have tossed not wisely but too well.

The Cardinals, bereft of such stars as Hasey, Gurnea and Riemer have figured in the race and it is extremely doubtful they will. Seven times the Red Birds have managed to reach the 500 mark, but each time they have fallen back. Bill Hallahan alone of the pitching staff has done consistently good work, and the club is lacking the punch that kept it at the top the last two years.

The champs almost suffered the crowning ignominy yesterday when Bob Brown, Boston's crack rookie, set them down 6 to 1 on four hits. They averted a shutout only when Jimmy Wilson, singled Collins across after two were out in the ninth. Dizzy Dean gave Brown a tussle for seven innings, yielding only four hits but the Braves had a big time with his successor, Paul Derringer.

Pirates Trim Giants
The Pittsburgh Pirates put over a run in the ninth to defeat the Giants, 6 to 7, and make it four out of five for the series, while Bob Smith pitched Chicago to a 6 to 4 triumph over the Phillies who punched their five errors in one inning to give the Cubs three runs. Brooklyn handed Cincinnati a 15 to 3 thrashing.

Earl Combs' home run with two aboard gave the Yankees a 3 to 2 decision over Detroit and knocked the Tigers into third place in the American league. Ruffing let the Tigers down with six hits and struck out ten.

The Athletics won two games from Chicago, 6 to 4 and 11 to 2, and took over second place, six and a half games back of the Yanks. Jimmy Foxx cleared his thirtieth homer in the first tilt.

Although his hard, Wes Ferrell stuck it out to turn in his 16th victory, 6 to 5. Joe Vosmik's single in the eighth with the bases loaded did the trick.

Ed Gallagher, former Boston college star, made his major league debut with the Boston Red Sox and was given a rousing reception by St. Louis. Before he could be gotten out of there in the second inning the Browns had scored five runs and were on their way to an 8 to 4 victory.

Stella Walsh Won't Become U. S. Citizen

Cleveland — (AP) — Stella Walsh, fastest of feminine track stars, today declined to accept naturalization as a citizen of the United States and will run under the colors of her native Poland in the coming Olympic games.

If she clings to her decision, the United States has lost virtually certain points in the women's dashes. Miss Walsh announced her plans when she appeared in federal court Friday for a special hearing at which she was to have been granted her citizenship papers.

She exhibited a cablegram from Poland, written in Polish, which she refused to translate but she said it contained information which "might affect my entire future life."

She will have only one more opportunity to reconsider. A special naturalization hearing is to be held next Wednesday and arrangements were made for Miss Walsh to appear then if she wishes.

Chaff'n ChatteR

By Gordon E. McIntyre
A CHANCE for statesmanship such as has not occurred in the life of Will Harridge since he became president of the American League is afforded by the Dickey-Reynolds feud.

Dickey, catcher for the Yankees, sneaked across a sucker punch on Reynolds, Washington outfielder, after Reynolds had bowled him out of the picture on a close play at home plate. The blow fractured Reynolds' jaw and will keep him out of the game for five or six weeks. The next day Prexy Harridge announced that Dickey was suspended indefinitely.

Think what it would mean to the other seven clubs in the American League if Harridge should keep Dickey out of the game until Reynolds is able to play again. It would tighten the race as it has not been tightened in many years.

It would give the Athletics, the Senators, the Tigers, Indians and Browns an opportunity to talk about a pennant this year. Even the White Sox and Red Sox would be helped, though it is hard to see how any decision could hurt them, at that.

Darkness Ends 4th Ward Game

Service Bakers and Zuelke Team Tied 10-all at Close of Fracas

The Service Bakery softball team failed to win its sixteenth tilt Thursday night at Fourth ward school when darkness ended a game with the Irving Zuelke-bldg team with the score tied at 10 all. Both teams had many errors and there was more wrangling and fistfuff engagements than ever before seen in baseball with the possib' exception of some of the Cub-Red games last year.

Greene pitched for the Bakers and Crane for the Izzies, both getting little support, especially Greene whose first baseman started trading blows with an enemy base runner while two other men galloped over the rubber.

The Bakers now stand fourth in the Fox River Valley softball loop have won 15 and lost five this season in league and independent play. Three of the defeats have been in the hands of out of town teams.

Next week the Bakers have six games scheduled. Sunday they journey to Oshkosh for a league game, Monday they play Coated Paper, Tuesday the Tuttle Press, Wednesday Spilkers Bakers, Thursday the Interlakes, and Friday the Foresters of the Fraternal league.

All games will be played on the Fourth ward diamond, except the Spilker battle which is booked at Wilson field, Wednesday.

Members of the Bakers are G. DeYoung, D. Manier, L. DeYoung, L. Kugler, Ken Wilson, L. Grieshaber, B. Kamps, L. Weber, J. Bowers, S. DeYoung, R. Barfell, and H. Wilson. Kneip, Greene and DeYoung will be missing this week, however, for they left for Camp Douglas today.

Teams wanting games with the Bakers should call Ken Wilson at 2723-R.

Bubber Jonnard Returns to Milwaukee—Christy Makes Circuit Clout

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
CHICAGO — (AP) — The lively antics of the St. Paul club during the past three days have proved a boon to Minneapolis as far as the Columbus menace is concerned.

With the battle for the leadership of the American association so tight that it squeaks, Minneapolis has needed help in standing off the challengers, being able to take care of only one at a time itself. The Saints have obliged by taking three straight from the Red Birds, while the Millers have managed to whip Toledo twice in three engagements, leaving Indianapolis as the only team about which to worry.

The Millers had only a slight margin over the Indians today, but things might have been worse had not St. Paul snored Columbus around. The Saints yesterday came from behind to win, 9 to 5, with Rob Fenner's triple in the seventh with two on, the decisive blow. Loose fielding sent the Red Birds away in front but they were unable to hold the margin.

The combination of Carmen Hill's pitching and Paul Richards' batting brought Minneapolis an 8 to 3 victory over Toledo. Hill gave the Hens only six hits, while his battery mated slammed out a home run two doubles and a single to drive in five runs. Most of the damage was done at the expense of Monte Pearson.

Rubber Jonnard smothered Milwaukee with only four hits and Louisville evened the series with a 7 to 1 victory. Only Cuckoo Christensen's first home run of the season kept old Bub from earning a shutout. He also participated in the attack to the extent of a home run, while Dud Branom came up with two homers and a single to bat in four runs for the Colonels.

Indianapolis kept pace by defeating Kansas City in a night game to make it three in a row. Johnny Cooney gave the Blues only seven hits, while the Indians were cracking Max Thomas and Hapo Carson for 12 and a 5 to 1 victory.

Property accounts should approximate real value; depreciation should represent the actual loss of value for use over the period covered. A few special cases may be added. A few special cases should be understandable by the average man. To the figures should be added such explanations as may be needed for a proper interpretation. Kaukauna and Kimberly Will Fight for Lead

Victory for Lamers' Team Would Place Them on Top of Ladder

Kaukauna—With eyes trained on the top rung in the Fox River Valley league, the Electric City nine Sunday afternoon will clash with the Kimberly nine here.

A win for the Lamers' aggregation will automatically place them on the cherished top rung of the league ladder, and will topple the Kimberly team from its lofty perch. Many Lamers have been putting their team through its paces during the past week, grooming them for the decisive contest with the Kimberly papermakers. He has been ironing out the rough spots, tightening up various corners in the infield, and developed the batting eyes of several players.

The Kimberly aggregation is now in possession of first place by virtue of its seven wins and only three losses. Kaukauna has won six games this season while losing three.

The Lamer team clinched second place last Monday by defeating the Shawano Indians. A ninth inning rally is all that saved the day for the Kaukauna crew.

Fortin or Fulsinger will occupy the mound for the Kaukauna nine, and "Shorty" Wenzel will handle the big job in back of home plate. Behr or Zenecki will hurl for the Kimberly aggregation, with Ashman at catch.

Well Yields "Ice"

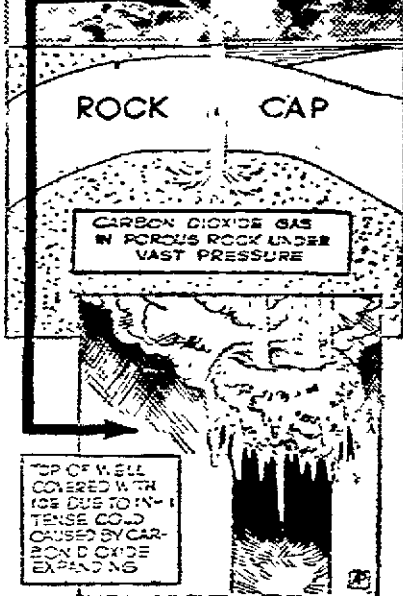

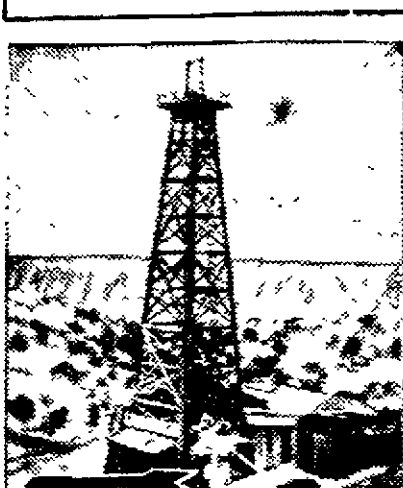

Diagram shows how carbon dioxide gas from 3,000 feet underground forms commercial "ice" as it expands when released from underground pressure at the mouth of the well.

Wells 3,000 Feet In Depth Yielding Commercial "Ice"

"Cold Mining" is New Venture in American Southwest

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
New York—(AP)—A new industry—"cold mining," which produces ice from wells 3,000 feet deep—is beginning in the American Southwest.

The ice is solid carbon dioxide. 109 degrees below Zero Fahrenheit. Discovery of this gas in many places and adventures in drilling are reported in Mining & Metallurgy, the scientific journal of the American Institute of Mining & Metallurgical Engineers.

The strangest part of all is that there is no ice in the ground, nor is the gas itself even cold. Its temperature—"when not flowing"—is about 80 degrees Fahrenheit.

But "when flowing" is an entirely different story. For then the flow is due to expansion from enormous compression deep in the ground, and this expansion produces sub-zero cold. One mine is named the "ice cream well" because of the creamy ice which forms from expanding gas at its mouth.

All these carbon dioxide wells are found in the "domes" or the "anti-clines" of oil fields. They have been located in Carbonera Dome, western Colorado, Harley Dome near Westwater, Utah, and also in the same state in the Last Chance, the Willow Springs and the Farnham structures. They are found in the Wagon Mound area in New Mexico, and in large quantities near Tampico, Mexico.

One commercial well is in operation near Price, Utah. Another is under construction in western Colorado. The Utah well yields 96 percent pure carbon dioxide. It is purified in absorbing towers and compressed three times, finally becoming a liquid.

This liquid is sprayed through nozzles. Part of the spray expands into gas, thereby producing additional cold that solidifies the rest of the spray into snow. Hydraulic presses squeeze the snow into commercial size ice cakes. These are stored in an insulated pit underground.

Child Badly Injured When Struck by Auto

Kaukauna—Frank Marx, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. August Marx, was severely injured about 2:30 Friday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Oscar Becker, Manitowoc, on Lawe-st. According to witnesses the youngster ran out into the road from the sidewalk, when the car struck him a glancing blow, throwing him into the road. He was taken to a physician's office for medical attention, and later was removed to St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton.
